JAZZ GIRL IS WILLING TO END TRIAL BY PLEA

Attorney Offers To Enter Manslaughter Verdict If Prosecution Agrees

BULLETIN SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—A jury was finally sworn in at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to try Dorothy Ellingson for the murder of her mother. It consists of nine men and three women. The women are Mrs. Dora R. Roche, Mrs. Alice F. Hicks and Mrs. Clara M. G. White.

BULLETIN SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—As court convened for the afternoon session in the trial of Dorothy Ellingson, it was reported that District Attorney Matthew Brady had announced the state would accept a plea of second degree murder.

However, the defense counsel announced they would not permit the girl to plead guilty to second degree murder.

"This is not a case of murder in any degree," Alexander Mooslin, chief counsel, declared.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN

For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Dorothy Ellingson may plead guilty to manslaughter.

Following the recess of court at which Dorothy collapsed completely, her counsel, after a conference, announced this afternoon that they would enter a plea of manslaughter still held good.

"We are willing to enter such a plea in the interest of humanity at any time that the district attorney will agree and the court will permit us," said Attorney Alexander Mooslin.

A sensational scene was enacted today when the limp form of the girl was carried into the jury room. Her brother, Earl Ellingson, failing to gain entrance, pounded on the door, crying: "You got to let me in to my kid sister."

As a result of this incident, attorneys for the defense will seek permission from the court this afternoon to have the father or brother of the girl sit near her during the court session.

If this is denied they will seek the privilege at least of having the father and brother permitted to visit Dorothy during the court recess.

After having heard herself termed a liar by her own counsel and a declaration made that she was probably insane at the time she confessed the killing of her mother, Dorothy Ellingson collapsed again as the

OPEN GRAVES IN 'TYPHOID MYSTERY'

Authorities Hope Ghosts Of Past Will Give Clues In Shepherd Case

CHICAGO, March 27.—The year-old graves of Dr. Oscar Olson and Mrs. Mary McClintock were opened here today to give lie to the proverb that "dead men tell no tales."

The state, abandoning its previously announced schedule, went to the cemeteries this morning and at noon announced that the exhuming and preliminary examination of the bodies was completed. Only the long scientific examination of the vital organs now remains to determine whether new ghosts will stalk from the half-forgotten past to shriek at William D. Shepherd: "Thou art the man!"

There was no announcement as to the condition of the bodies, but grave diggers who accomplished the gruesome task of removing the coffins declared they were in an unusually good state of preservation. This statement led the state's attorney's office and experts who will conduct the chemical analysis to predict that the chances of determining whether the deaths were caused by unnatural means might be even greater than had been estimated.

Jury to Get Facts

When the chemists and other scientists complete their tests, the findings will be presented to the same coroner's jury which sat in at the investigation of the death of William Nelson McClintock, for which a murder indictment has been returned against Shepherd and Dr. Charles C. Falman, the man who confessed he supplied Shepherd with typhoid germs with which to inoculate young McClintock.

Judge Harry Olson, brother of Dr. Olson, will testify to the alleged peculiar circumstances surrounding the deaths of the doctor and Mrs. McClintock and, if the evidence warrants, the state will seek additional murder indictments against Shepherd.

Methodist Episcopalists Divided On Unit Plan

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Baltimore district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was thrown into a turmoil today when the question of unification of the northern and southern branches of the church was unexpectedly brought to the floor.

New Issue In Road War!

BOND ISSUE FOR SOUTHERN BRANCH TOTALS $3,000,000

Conference At Sacramento Decides to Submit Proposition of $8,500,000 to Voters of State At Next Election

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—Decision to present a bond issue to the people at the next election for the purpose of constructing new buildings for the University of California, both at Berkeley and at the southern branch at Beverly Hills, for a state building at Los Angeles and the completion of the capitol buildings at Sacramento, was reached at a conference in the governor's office today.

The conference was between Governor Richardson, Robert G. Sproul, comptroller of the University of California, Senator Arthur H. Breed and Senator Charles W. Lyon.

The proposed bond issue will total $8,500,000, according to Sproul, divided as follows: Southern branch of the University of California, $3,000,000.

New buildings at the University of California, Berkeley, $3,000,000.

Completion of the capitol annex buildings at Sacramento, $1,250,000.

Construction of state building at Los Angeles, $1,250,000.

A statement issued by the governor's office relative to the conference said:

"Mr. Sproul came to Sacramento representing the regents and asking for new buildings at the southern branch and at Berkeley. At the suggestion of the governor, it was decided to add to the proposition an amount for a state building at Los Angeles, and the completion of the capitol buildings at Sacramento."

TEACHER PENSION FUND IS SOLVENT

Insurance Actuary Concurs With Supt. W. C. Wood On Retirement

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—S. Gundelfinger, actuary for the state insurance department, who reported unfavorably a month ago on the California teachers' retirement salary fund to Governor Richardson, has concurred in the views of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, that the payment of benefits will continue for ten years without the crisis he predicted.

Neither Wood nor E. P. Clarke, president of the State Board of Education, are sure of the sufficiency of the fund, the Senate education committee learned last night. But they corrected the general impression created by Gundelfinger's report that the fund was about to become insolvent.

Safeguard Teachers A new teacher tenure act safeguarding 30,000 California school instructors from the whims of local political factions and protecting their positions so long as their work is satisfactory, was passed in the Assembly by a vote of 69 to 15.

PARIS, March 27.—An unexpected aftermath and dramatic echo of the Dennistoun suit in London was heard today when Dudley Field Malone, American lawyer, told International News Service he was going to London to sue Colonel Ian Dennistoun for breach of promise in the name of an American woman.

"I do not wish to disclose the identity of my client at the present time," said Malone. "But obviously her name will come out in the trial."

"Before Colonel Dennistoun married Lady Carnarvon," continued Malone, "he promised to marry my client, an American woman, as soon as he could obtain a divorce from Dorothy Dennistoun."

"Through my legal associate in England I will bring a suit for breach of promise and defamation of character."

U. S. SENATOR WHEELER IS INDICTED

Used Influence To Obtain Oil And Gas Lands, Grand Jury Charge

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, candidate for vice-president on the La Follette ticket last fall, was re-indicted here today by a federal grand jury on charges that he used his influence as a senator in appearing before the department of the interior as a paid attorney for Montana clients.

Indicted with Wheeler were Edwin Booth, former solicitor of the interior department, and Gordon Campbell, a Montana oil prospector, whom Wheeler is accused of representing.

The formal charge in the indictment is of conspiracy to obtain illegal use and possession of public lands in Montana for the purpose of prospecting for oil and gas.

Lengthy Indictment The new indictment covers twenty typewritten pages and charges that continuously from April 1, 1920, to January 1, 1924, Senator Wheeler and his associates entered into a conspiracy in the District of Columbia to "defraud the United States out of the use and possession" of 10,000 acres of land in Toole county, Montana, which lands were subjected to permits to prospect for oil and gas.

Through the alleged illegal methods, it is charged, the accused were able to secure possession of 9000 more acres than either or all of them would be entitled to under the law.

Wheeler has maintained that he held conferences in the interior department regarding Campbell's oil permits, but did so before he took office as a senator. He was representing Campbell as an attorney for a $10,000 fee, he said.

SEEK HIGHWAY FUND FROM TREASURY SURPLUS

Possible Defeat On 3-Cent Gasoline Tax Causes Another Proposal

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—With backers of the 3-cent gas tax bill apparently doubtful of their ability to secure a favorable vote on the measure as the result of yesterday's developments, a move was reported under way in the Legislature today to have funds for state highway work during the coming biennium appropriated out of the surplus in the state treasury.

Surplus funds which have piled up in the treasury as a result of the capitulation of the railroads in their fight against the King tax bill are variously estimated at from $22,000,000 to $26,000,000. Estimates of highway engineers and Governor Richardson's special road investigating committee call for $10,000,000 per year for new construction, or a total appropriation of $20,000,000.

While Governor Richardson is said to be strongly opposed to using the surplus monies for highway work, sponsors of the gas tax charge that his statement yesterday denouncing plans to budget the highway commission was largely responsible for placing the increased gasoline levy in the doubtful column.

Blames Governor The governor's attitude is also held by the legislators to have caused Senator Breed's "change of heart," and his stand against budgeting the road board.

Reiterating his claim that he has a bloc of twenty-seven senators backing him in an agreement not to sponsor the gas tax bill unless the highway commission consents to budget, Senator J. M. Inman declared today that "if the gasoline tax meets defeat it should be charged to Governor Richardson who has refused to sanction an accounting of the commission's proposed expenditures."

'FIRE SACRIFICE' SUSPECTS BAILED

Father Of Dead Man Gives Security For Release Of Husband, Wife

OROVILLE, Cal., March 27.—Released on bail of $5000 each, provided by F. S. Scholow, the father of Herman Scholow, Gridley victim of cult branding, Mrs. Anna Rhodes, high priestess of the fire sect, and Edward Rhodes, her husband, were today notified to appear in the justice court here April 1 to plead to charges of criminal assault as a result of the branding of Scholow and his subsequent death.

Mrs. Rhodes, who has confessed that she branded Scholow with "the sign of the cross," still retains a defiant attitude toward the authorities. Scholow died last Thursday in a hospital following "sacramental rites" which took place at the Rhodes residence near Gridley, Cal.

Exhumation Planned Arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes followed the visit to the district attorney of a delegation of Butte county residents who demanded the woman and her husband be held after Mrs. Rhodes was said to have confessed she branded Scholow.

Rothe indicated today he would probably order Scholow's body exhumed to determine the exact cause of his death.

The senators signing the resolution with Inman were Murphy, Kline, Jones, Hollister, Nelson, Allen and Dennett.

When the budget information has been received, it is the purpose of these senators to incorporate it in a budget provision.

BUILDING FOR YEAR IS OVER $2,000,000

Glendale Is Making Fine Showing In Comparison With Other Cities

Building permits for 1925 went over the $2,000,000 mark at noon today, when Mrs. Z. Hammond took out a permit for $300 to build a garage at 734 West California avenue, bringing the total for the year to $2,006,295, reports H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the building department. For the entire year of 1924, the Glendale building permits totaled only $6,305,971. For the year 1924 they totaled $10,169,761.

Today the building permits for March stand at $723,206, Mr. Vandewater reports. The total for February was $613,280, which placed Glendale fourth in the list of Southwest cities, led only by Los Angeles, San Diego and Long Beach. An even better record is predicted this month, when Glendale may outrival Berkeley, which in February issued permits totaling $669,639.

LEGISLATIVE MEASURE TO REGULATE PRODUCTS

Senator Breed, In War On Oil Companies, Offers Drastic Amendment

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—The bitter fight waged against the 3-cent gasoline tax by the oil companies today resulted in Senator Arthur H. Breed, sponsor of the increased gas levy, introducing a constitutional amendment in the Senate which would declare the oil and gasoline companies public utilities, subject to regulation by the State Railroad commission.

In introducing the amendment, Senator Breed declared his measure "was a result of the spectacle of uncontrolled raising and lowering of prices and interfering with legitimate legislation."

"Since the attack of the oil companies upon my proposed 1-cent increase on gasoline," Breed said, "I have been literally swamped with letters and telegrams from all over California and even from other states. I have arrived at the definite opinion that the oil industry should be declared a public utility and should be regulated by the State Railroad commission."

"A committee hearing upon this constitutional amendment will be held the middle of next week." "Undoubtedly this amendment will be bitterly fought by the oil lobby as they have fought the gasoline tax bill, but that should not and will not deter us from doing our plain duty as we see it."

SOLONS FACE DAY AND NIGHT MEETS

Work Piles Up At Capitol Presaging More Work For Lawmakers

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to the Evening News,
SACRAMENTO, March 27.—
Day and night sessions of the Legislature are in prospect during April until adjournment. Already many of the committee members are working sixteen hours a day. Chairman Frank C. Weller, Glendale, of the assembly judiciary committee, is carrying a tremendous amount of work on his shoulders.

One of the big problems confronting the Legislature which was not settled is the bankers' fight over chain and branch banking. Representatives of the various cliques met here this week, stacked their millions in front of a meek committee, called each other liars, and when all was said, nothing could be done. They were likened to a bunch of Kilkenny cats.

Bank Discussions
President James A. Baigalupi of the Bank of Italy tritely said: "Superintendent of Banks John F. Johnson is fair and square. But I wouldn't be in his box for all the gold that glitters, with the Bank of Italy tugging at one side for the right to compete in the Los Angeles field, and with four competitors pulling and hauling at him with the words, 'Thou shalt not' grant permits for any more banks affiliated with the Bank of Italy."

The battle of financiers in California for supremacy is comparable to that of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Senator James Couzens, striking out at one another in the national capital.

No less interesting, however, is the fight for highways. The situation is so complex that no one essay to make a survey of the ninety and nine, more or less, bills and constitutional amendments offered on the subject of finance and classification.

Gasoline Question
The gasoline companies, the automobile clubs, the farmers, the city fellers, the newspapers and the office boys are chasing one another around in circles until the wisdom of Solomon, if you please, is necessary for a complete understanding.

And after the Legislature goes home Governor Richardson and his highway commission may have time to think out and put into operation something practical and more satisfying than the legislative road builders who are awarded the privilege of occupying the Cave of the Winds, as the capitol is known, once every two years.

Lead imitation dollars have been put in circulation here. A federal agent, accompanying Sheriff Robert Clark, is making an investigation. It is said the imitations are fairly good likenesses of dollars minted in 1879 and 1890. They were apparently cast in a plaster mold. According to investigations so far made, the spurious coins have had their origin locally, as none have made their appearance in either other county towns or places distant from county or state.

'COXEY'S ARMY' IS CALGARY VISITOR

New Army of Unemployed Ex-Service Men Protest Lack of Work

By C. A. HAYDEN
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

CALGARY, Alberta, March 27.—
Twenty-two miles of trudging over a slippery road six inches deep in slushy snow, took all the romance out of the hike of more than 100 unmarried, unemployed men who set out from Calgary Saturday morning on a 200-mile trek to Edmonton, the capital of the province, to protest to the Legislature against unemployment.

At Airdrie, this twentieth century "Coxey's Army," crashed aboard a Canadian Pacific railway freight train Sunday morning. They were permitted to remain on the train until it reached the outskirts of Edmonton where the pilgrims were ordered off railroad property, according to reports received here today. Then they marched into Edmonton where they joined with Edmonton's unemployed for a demonstration Monday at the parliament buildings where the Legislature is in session. The "army," which set out from Calgary Saturday morning, was headed by "General" A. J. Boulter, a World War veteran.

Rough Going
The pilgrims could not have chosen a more unsuitable day for the start of their tramp than Saturday, but having made their bluff Friday night they had to go through with it. The main highway to Edmonton, hitherto rough but hard with its winter coating of ice and snow, was suddenly converted by the warmest chinook of the winter into half a foot of messy mud, than which there is no worse footing in the world. Nevertheless, one hundred and twenty-five husky men, more than half of whom were war veterans, started out. Foxily they swung around the C. P. R. yards, planning to hop a freight but they delayed too long and missed their train. Then there was nothing to it but to hit the trail and go back down. The 22 miles of the march to Airdrie may be left to the imagination but only 25 of the company dropped out. Their only sustenance en route was raisins, bread and cheese bought by the leaders at the Calgary store and this fare carried the marchers through ten hours of strenuous muscle-wrenching marching.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Six feet, six inches of Vermont manhood has stepped into the office of United States attorney general. When presented to the supreme court he was reported wearing a brown sack suit and a red necktie. He was quite unconventional, it seems.

President Coolidge's selection of John Garibaldi Sargent for the portfolio of attorney general after his fight with the senate over Charles Beecher Warren, appears most satisfactory.

Like Vice-President Charley Dawes, Sargent has started his career in Washington by breaking tradition. More power to him. Tradition is second only to secrecy and hypocrisy in public affairs. Let us have men who are themselves—and nothing more.

Shameful treatment of the California Indians again is before the California Legislature. Columns have been written about the dying, starving tribes. As "our brothers' keepers" this state and nation has fallen down.

We are merciful with our aid when catastrophe is spectacular, as instance the Japanese earthquake, and the middle west tornado. We are deep in our sympathy for buried miners. But have we no place in our affections for the aboriginal inhabitants of this hemisphere? It appears not.

The fight in the California Senate over the proposed increase in gasoline tax has state-wide ramifications. Opposition started from several sources while proponents of new highway construction appear to center themselves in the "pork barrel" districts.

California should keep up its road building. There is no question as to that. But it should not be required to spend money for wealthy sections of the state, or to put paving in isolated communities to satisfy civic pride.

Real issues have been lost in the shuffle. Politics and politicians, private interests and lobbyists are chasing in circles around the capitol dome.

If California is to progress it must have a broad vision, not narrowed by sectionalism.

But it is unfortunate to relate that Los Angeles and Southern California is just as tender-skinned as any city or section in the north.

The only difference seems to lie in the fact that the southland effectively deals with its problems.

Evening News Carriers See Comedy Film

Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale theatre was host last night to scores of carrier boys and street sales boys of The Glendale Evening News, at the closing performance of Syd Chaplin's hilarious comedy, "Charlie's Aunt."

The boys did not go in a body but were given their passes and were consequently spread throughout the capacity audience. Many of them were with their parents. C. B. Hogan, route man, and W. H. Packard, circulation manager, of The Glendale Evening News, were present with the boys. Mrs. Blanche L. Halfhill, subscription manager, was also in the audience, together with members of the editorial staff of The News.

The carrier boys represented not only Glendale but the Eagle Rock, Burbank, Montrose, Tujunga, Sunland and La Crescenta territories served by the paper. The went home voicing the opinion that "Charlie's Aunt" was the funniest picture they ever saw, and with deep gratitude to "Uncle Bill" Howe for his hospitality.

FASTER TRAIN TIME SOUGHT BY CITY

Two-Day Service Is Urged From Chicago; Glendale Starts Movement

More rapid rail transportation between Southern California points, Chicago as well as other eastern cities, by lopping twenty-four hours off the present train running time, is the object of a movement to be set on foot in Glendale and in which it is believed every other city of Southern California will participate.

The suggestion that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce take the lead in advocating more rapid travel through the east foot in Glendale and in which it is believed every other city of Southern California will participate. The suggestion that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce take the lead in advocating more rapid travel through the east foot in Glendale and in which it is believed every other city of Southern California will participate.

At present, Mr. Wood points out, three days and a half are required to make the trip to Chicago. Over much of the trip the trains travel at a slow rate of speed, with many prolonged stops. This, Mr. Wood asserts, is one of the main obstacles to the growth of western business and industry. Years ago, he points out, a similar situation then existing between Chicago and large commercial centers on the Atlantic seaboard was recognized and corrected by the installation of a number of fast trains. The result was immediately appreciated and has done much to build up the middle-west, Mr. Wood said.

Special fast trains to the coast should be able to cut the running time down twenty-four hours, it is believed, giving a virtual two-day schedule from Chicago. Many business men would not hesitate to acquire a trip to the coast were only a matter of two days, the Glendale secretary contends.

Recently, at the instance of William L. Truitt, member of the Chamber of Commerce directorate, the Glendale chamber undertook a movement to secure colonization rates over the railroads for California similar to those granted parties of five or more going to Oregon or Washington. The local chamber solicited the aid of other Southern California communities in this effort. The result has been that an avalanche of requests for the colonist rates has been forwarded to Chicago from cities of the Southland. This instance demonstrates the interest communities have in matters of transportation, Secretary Wood points out in predicting that a movement for faster schedules would be heartily supported.

Plan Unified Park System For Valley

A comprehensive survey of the San Fernando valley to determine legitimate possible park sites and prepare maps and specifications for a unified park system in the valley, has been undertaken by the Associated Chambers of Commerce. The plan worked out would fit in with the proposed metropolitan park plan for Los Angeles county, authorization of which is now pending before the state legislature, according to B. R. Holoway, chairman of the park committee of the associated chambers. Data are being assembled through local Chambers of Commerce, each one being requested to submit proposed sites to be included in the general park scheme.

Visiting Masons Asked To Meet Next Sunday

The effort being made by Glendale Masons not members of any of the local Masonic lodges has made another step forward as a result of the meeting held at the Masonic temple Sunday afternoon, March 15, and a call has been issued for another meeting to be held at the same place next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The invitation includes all sojourning Masons holding membership in other than the local jurisdiction, and Col. A. M. Dewey, who signs the call as chairman of the gathering previously held, states that there are more than 600 such Masons living in the vicinity of Glendale, and it is hoped to encourage the Masonic spirit of fraternity in this city by bringing together in frequent meetings those Masons who are "slipping" in this particular as a result of neglecting frequent association with one another. These sojourners are much interested in the proposed building of a new Masonic temple in Glendale, and it is expected that a considerable sum of money will be subscribed by them to help build the proposed temple to Masonry here.

Musical Selections At De Molay Dinner Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Denni, writers and directors of "Hello, Dearie," were unable to be present, but sent a telegram of greeting from a stopping place on their way east. Henry Winans, master councillor, presided. After dinner, dancing was the diversion. Members of the advisory board and their wives were special guests.

Predictions By Rain Padre Proving True

Hats off again to Father Ricard, professor of astronomy at the University of Santa Clara known widely as "the padre of the rains," because of his uncanny weather forecasts. On March 1 he made the following prediction, which, like many of his prophecies in the past, has come true:

"On March 24, as the night advances, a storm will enter upon the northwestern coast and also a counter-storm in a lower latitude, thus initiating the greatest disturbance of the month. On the afternoon of March 25 the disturbance will cause a barometric fall and wake up the winds. March 26 will be stormy, with rain in the valleys and snow on the mountains."

Father Ricard ended his prediction for the month by stating that on March 27 the storm would begin to break away and that March 28 would be "nearly fair." If his prediction continues correct, umbrellas will not be needed tomorrow.

CHORAL MUSIC TO BE SENT OVER AIR

Glendale Club and Symphony Orchestra To Present Long Beach Bill

Eighty members of the Glendale Choral club and the Municipal Symphony orchestra will make the trip to Long Beach next Monday night, when the Glendale organizations will be entertained by the Long Beach choral club. The visitors will present a program.

Arrangements have been made for the broadcasting of the numbers presented by Glendale musicians over Radio KPON, beginning at 8 o'clock. As the special Pacific Electric train will leave Glendale at 5:30 o'clock and arrive in Long Beach at 7:15, 20 minutes of community singing will precede the regular program. J. Arthur Myers, director of the club and orchestra, will be in charge of the singing. The Glendale musicians will be accompanied by R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of recreation, George J. Lyons, president of Glendale Community Service, and other officers of the local recreation organization. Following the program the entire company will be served a light supper.

Records Fall When Comedy Film Is Shown

Records were shattered left and right by "Charlie's Aunt," which concluded its runs at the Glendale theatre last night, reports Manager William A. Howe. Sunday brought the biggest audiences that have ever come to the Glendale on that day, Tuesday brought more people than have ever seen a picture at this showhouse on a Tuesday, while the five-day run of "Charlie's Aunt" as a whole topped any run of similar length in the history of the Glendale theatre. More records will fall when "The Last Laugh," with Emil Jannings, opens Sunday, Manager Howe predicts. From one end of the country to the other, critics have hailed this great "U. F. A." production as a knockout.

"It is a story just like a page from life," says Mr. Howe. "A tear or two, some heartthrobs, smiles, laughs and a big happy ending."

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION IS BEING HELD

Polls To Remain Open Until 8 o'Clock Tonight; Four Entered In Race

The polls opened at 8 o'clock this morning for election of two members of the Glendale Union High school board of trustees. They will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight. The local polling place is the Harvard High school. S. Riley Lyons is inspector. Adelaide H. Imbler and Mary G. Pollock are judges.

All qualified electors of the Glendale Union High school district are eligible to vote at this election, according to state law. Qualified electors are those who have registered since January 1, 1924, and thirty days prior to the date of election, which is prescribed by law as the last Friday in March.

Four In Race

Two trustees will be elected for terms of three years. The only names appearing on the ballot are those of A. W. Tower and H. W. Yarrick, trustees, who are candidates to succeed themselves. Friends of H. V. Adams and C. S. Dunning, candidates who entered the race too late to have their names printed on the ballot, are voting for these candidates by writing their names in.

Polling places are also being conducted in the La Crescenta, Tujunga and Monte Vista sections of the Glendale Union High school district, at the schoolhouses in the respective sections. Results of the vote cast at each of these outlying polling places will be brought to the Harvard High school tonight, for tabulation and addition to the local vote.

TAXES AND ATTRACTIONS

Albert Atwood, well-known economist and Saturday Evening Post writer, has not always been complimentary to California; that is, he has not hesitated to point out our mistakes and failures, but in a recent article he not only pays California a compliment, but gives us some good advice. Mr. Atwood says:

"I firmly believe that California has a wonderful destiny. With its climate, its rapidly expanding agriculture, its equally fast-growing industries—its mining, its timber, its vast foreign trade and its fabulous hydro possibilities and achievements—nothing can stop its steady, its almost miraculous growth. Why worry because other sections, thousands of miles away, also are growing? With the variety of its resources, with the bewildering possibilities before it, it would be undignified, to say the very least, for such a golden commonwealth to even take notice of a mere gesture made by another state."

Florida is making capital over the repeal of her state income and inheritance taxes, but attention is called to the fact that although Florida may have the advantage in this instance, that state does not have the improvements that make high taxes necessary. If Florida continues to grow she will have to build roads, schools, universities and make other improvements that go with the high type of living conditions that prevail in most sections of California and which cost money to provide. The advantages that lure the rich to Florida—low taxes—may cease to exist as soon as he gets there, for growth in population will call for all the things that only taxation can provide.

An eastern capitalist who is visiting in California was speaking recently about Florida's appeal to the wealthy through the repeal of her inheritance and income tax laws, and he said: "Notwithstanding your inheritance tax laws in California, your community property laws make it possible for a man to die here and still have more money left for his heirs than if he died in Florida. I talked with an auditor yesterday and he had just finished figuring an estate of a man worth $800,000. Because of the California community property law the heirs of the man can pay the inheritance tax and will be $6000 better off than if they had lived in Florida, without the community property law and with no tax on the inheritance."

At any rate, why should we not, here in California, take the advice of Mr. Atwood? Why should we not be too dignified to take notice of Florida's "gesture"? We should see to it that our living conditions and our laws be made as nearly ideal as possible. We should broadcast our own advantages to the world, and if Florida is not all she pretends to be, let the people find it out by experience. They will appreciate California all the more after having tried Florida. One thing is sure: Very few of those who see California ever go elsewhere to live, unless circumstances compel it.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS

The week of April 13 to 18 has been set apart by the Humane societies of the United States to be observed as "Be Kind to Animals Week." The movement to observe one week each year in this way is fostered by the American Humane association, the national federation of Humane societies, and an effort is being made to have the celebration universal this year.

California was in the front rank of active states in the volume of work reported last year and members of the state committee are working with enthusiasm to make this the best year of all. An appeal has been made to ministers to preach sermons upon the subject of kindness to animals on Sunday, April 19.

It is somewhat of a reflection upon our civilization and our Christianity that pets or stray animals should be made to suffer through the neglect or mistreatment of man and that we have to be reminded annually that we should be kind to the dumb creatures of earth.

A little group of dumb animal lovers here in Glendale has set us an example in organizing a Humane society and in providing a shelter where stray animals may be cared for or their sufferings mercifully ended. The work of this society is one of the many factors that makes Glendale attractive to people who appreciate the finer and nobler impulses and influences of life. Our observance of "Be Kind to Animals Week" and our support of the Glendale Humane society will mean less suffering for the dumb creatures.

PRESIDENT AND SENATE AGREE

"All's well that ends well" sums up the close of the controversy over the appointment of an attorney-general. We believe that the president should have the right to choose the members of his cabinet and especially should a president who has been so unanimously endorsed by the people be allowed to make such appointments without interference.

Whether or not President Coolidge was wise in his choice of Charles Beecher Warren, Mr. Warren was placed in a very embarrassing position and he showed himself to be a good sport in declining a recess appointment that would have continued until December, thus refusing to hamper the administration now and later.

The fact that the Senate unanimously accepted the appointment of the president's second choice, John G. Sargent, was a relief to those who saw in the attitude of certain senators an indication that the dissensions between Congress and the administration which marked last year's sessions were to be continued.

REVISING THE COMMANDMENTS

Nothing is sacred nowadays. A New York pastor is now tampering with the ten commandments, eliminating the "thou shalt nots." It would be difficult to imagine anything more clear, direct and meaningful than the decalogue handed down by Moses in approximately three hundred words. And yet this Rev. Guthrie in a revision of three thousand words thinks he can improve upon the wording of this ancient law. Here is a sample: Moses said, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Rev. Guthrie revises this passage to read, "Thou shalt reverently recognize and acknowledge that one in all forms, however backward and repugnant they may be to thee, if those forms are to others sincerely acceptable and the only symbols intellectually and emotionally effective for thy fellow men." Rev. Guthrie may be a great scholar and theologian, but we must confess that to us his interpretation is abstruse. In fact, if he hadn't told us he was revising the decalogue we wouldn't have the slightest idea what it is all about.

THE WEIGH OF THE TRANSGRESSOR—1925

The Function of Friendship

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The chief value of a friend is that he understands.

There is something about true friendship that enables one to appreciate and encourage the best in his fellows.

It was said of Wordsworth and his sister and Coleridge that they were three bodies with a single soul. For many years Wordsworth turned out excellent material because Coleridge appreciated him. When he was an old man his work was recognized and he was made poet laureate. But he did not do much good work after that. The people applauded him and he he got the fame that was coming to him, but the friendship had ceased to work.

It is said of Mahomet that he would not have composed the Koran and stuck to his Revelations if his sister had not believed in him.

The confident belief and trust of some person is necessary for us. It is a rock to lean against. This is the best function of a good wife, to appreciate her husband. More divorces have occurred because one's good qualities have not been appreciated than for any other reason.

One good thing about love is that it is the best appreciator in the world. It can understand and see that which is good. It is the magnet that draws forth the good.

Many wives continually nag their husbands and call attention to their little defects, but do not seem to see their sterling qualities. When a wife can see past the defects of the real qualities of a man, she becomes a true helpmate. She is more than a wife; she is a friend.

There is something about friendship that makes the world a sociable place. To know that someone understands us and appreciates us gives us a comfortable and homey feeling.

There are few people who are able to carry out any idea or to stand for any principles, alone. They need someone to lean upon, someone who believes in them and appreciates them. For we all have our periods of depression and doubt.

Even John the Baptist was afflicted with a spirit of doubt when he sent word to the Christ asking if he were really the Messiah.

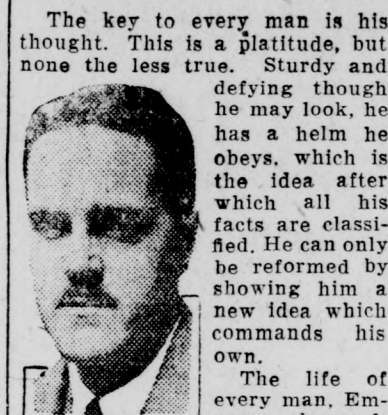

Jesus had his twelve apostles about him. He needed the consolation and help of appreciation. And every man that does anything in the world needs someone to stand by him and recognize the value of what he is doing.

Without this we are liable to be overcome in our moments of depression. We are liable to lose faith in ourselves and in our destiny.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

The key to every man is his thought. This is a platitude, but none the less true. Sturdy and defying though he may look, he has a helm he obeys, which is the idea after which all his facts are classified. He can only be reformed by showing him a new idea which commands his own.

The life of every man, Emerson observed, is a self-evolving circle, which, from a ring imperceptibly small, rushes on all sides outward to new and larger circles, and that without end. The extent to which this generation of circles, wheel without wheel, will go, depends on the force or truth of the individual soul. For it is the inert effort of each thought, having formed itself into a circular wave of circumstances, as, for instance, an empire, ruler of an art, a local usage, a religious rite, to heap itself on that ridge and to solidify and hem in the life.

"But, if the soul is quick and strong it bursts over that boundary on all sides and expands another orbit on the great deep, which also runs into a high wave, with attempt again and again to stop and to bind. But the heart refuses to be imprisoned; in its first and narrowest pulses it already tends outward with a vast force and to immense and innumerable expansions."

All of us have learned by experience that every ultimate fact is only the first of a new series, and every general law only a particular fact of some more general law presently to disclose itself.

"There is no outside, no inclosing wall, no circumference to us," Emerson opined.

"The man finishes his story,—how good! how final! how it puts a new face on all things! He fills the sky. Lo, on the other side rises also a man and draws a circle around the circle we have just pronounced the outline of the sphere."

So it is in science, and in religion. Emerson knew that his own philosophy would soon be useless.

Once he wrote:

"In the thought of tomorrow there is a power to upheave all thy creed, all the creeds, all the literatures of the nations, and marshal thee to a heaven which no epic dream has yet depicted."

"Every man is not so much a workman in the world as he is a suggestion that he should be."

"Men walk as prophecies of the next age."

Who's Who

The newly-installed secretary of Vice President Dawes has two distinct advantages as a secretary: He knows who's who in Washington, and as a newspaperman he should be able to prepare and get published good political publicity for the vice president.

The appointment was received with approval by the Washington newspaper correspondents, with whom Bartley is extremely popular.

E. Ross Bartley was born at Brockton, Ind., in 1892. He is a graduate of the University of Indiana, where he took a course in journalism.

While still pursuing his education he did his first newspaper work as a member of the staff of the Bloomington (Ind.) Journal.

He joined the United Press in 1915 and later went to the Columbus Ohio State Journal.

In 1917 he joined the Associated Press, being connected with its Pittsburgh office before going to Washington.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, March 27.—The recent purchase by L. H. Boydson and Dominick Morro of nine acres of the American Aluminum Co.'s holdings in the industrial section has been confirmed by bankruptcy court in Los Angeles and the order closing the deal issued.

At the same time sale of the aluminum plant and the five and one-half acres of land upon which it stands, to the Owens Co., was also confirmed and the court order making the same was issued.

This puts the period to the company's affairs in Burbank and means the contemplated developments will go forward, according to Mr. Boydson, who states that the Owens Co. will soon have a large force of men at work in the plant, manufacturing automobile trucks. An amusement park and swimming pool are planned by Mr. Boydson and Mr. Morro. An effort will be made to get the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. to change the course of their contemplated drill track so as to permit the development of this property as planned by the buyers.

TED LEWIS STAYS ON ORPHEUM BILL

Jazz King to Remain for Third Week, Other Big Acts to Be New

When an act can stay at the Orpheum three weeks and not only stay but "knock-em-dead" while it's staying it must be a whirlwind. Ted Lewis and his jazz band is more than a whirlwind—he's a cyclone! During Ted's final week, which begins next Monday matinee an entire new program in support of the jazz king will be offered.

Now if you can forget about Ted Lewis just look what the Orpheum has for the rest of the bill. An act imported from Paris called "The Parisian Revue" headed by M. Adolphus and Mile. Eastman featuring M. Daistoff, Mile. Kruger and Mile. Ella Blendel with imported costumes, settings and music, is number one.

Sunkist Comedian Eddie Nelson, former newsboy, comes billed as "the sunkist comedian." He is returning to the two-day from a sojourn in pictures. Herbert Clifton, with a gorgeous wardrobe of gowns, will offer female impersonations. Everything is "evolution" now—days and Leon Vavara demonstrates it on the piano. Doris Duncan will have a line of dainty ditties. Lady Alice brings her trained pets, while the Wheeler trio surprises by its agility and daring.

Topics of the Day and International Newsreel put the finishing touches on what promises to be a perfect bill.

MAYTAG WASHING MACHINE LAUDED

Glendale Hardware Product Honored By Recent Scots' Party

H. J. Cox, manager of the Maytag Washing Machine department of the Glendale Hardware Co., 601 East Broadway, feels very proud of the fact that a Maytag Washer was selected by the executive committee to be given away at the recent '49 party staged by the Scots, Pyramid No. 39. This famous washing machine was won by Miss Ethel M. Ford of 1507 West Glenoaks boulevard, Glendale, she holding the lucky number, $977.

Mr. Cox is conducting an active campaign in the sales of the Maytag washers. Just a few days ago a carload of Maytags were received by the Glendale Hardware Co. and, according to Mr. Cox, if they are any judge of the way the Glendale public has been won over to the Maytag, this last shipment will not last long but will be the forerunner of several more.

Maytag in Lead
The Maytag is claimed to be at least ten years ahead of many washing machines, in fact, there are many manufacturers today who are emulating the same principles and mechanism which have brought the Maytag such great success. Mr. Cox claims that the Maytag mechanical water agitation is very easy on clothes and entirely eliminates hand rubbing, that the Maytag has the largest hourly washing capacity of any washing machine made.

Mr. Cox has been connected with the Glendale Hardware Co. for over two years at the head of this department and has had over twenty years' experience with all types of washing machines. He came originally to Glendale from Pomona where he was operating his own washing machine business.

CATALINA PLANS EASTER SERVICE

'Uncle John' Of Station KHJ Arranging Ceremonies At Sunrise

AVALON, March 27.—The Easter sunrise ceremony at Avalon, Catalina island, promises to be a big event this year, under the auspices of "Uncle John" of KHJ radio station of the Los Angeles Times. Uncle John has been broadcasting information about this almost every night, and his idea is to secure a representation of at least one family from every city and town within a radius of 500 miles from Los Angeles. From the numerous inquiries received from his listeners-in, requesting information and reservations for the event, the undertaking is going to be most successful.

His plan contemplates a program at the new Strand theatre in Avalon, to begin at 7 a. m., and last until 11 p. m. on Saturday, April 11. This program will include an introductory period of the "Children's Hour," featuring the "Sandman" and "Queen Titania," Louis F. Klein and three or four juveniles—this to be followed by an hour of classical music, the balance of the program to be of a semi-classical and popular nature.

Sunrise Service
The Easter sunrise service program will include the following: A quartet of brass, soprano solo, prayer, community "sing," cornet solo, ten minute address, probably by Bishop Bertram Stephens, baritone solo, prayer, community "sing," closing number of quartet of brass. The program will run approximately forty-five minutes. Some of the artists already booked for the occasion are: Burkman Brothers' Hawaiian string quartet, Orpheus Four, male quartet, Uncle Remus, Hatch Graham, Sam Hinds, monologist, Mysterious soprano, Luboviski Trio and Carl Burratti. These artists are all favorites with the radio public.

In order to take care of the large number of people going to Catalina for the Easter ceremonies, both the steamships "Catalina" and "Avalon" will operate, if necessary, on Saturday, April 11, and Sunday, April 12. The steamship "Catalina" will remain on the run to the island daily after April 11.

If you have not heard about the big event, listen in on KHJ radio station, Los Angeles Times, and let "Uncle John" tell you about the Easter Catalina caravan.

Vancouver's Smallpox Scare Nearly Abated

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 27.—Indications are that the vaccination regulations of the United States government in regard to Vancouver residents will be lifted inside a month, according to city hall officials, who declare that the action taken to order compulsory vaccination in Vancouver will practically stamp out smallpox here in the next three weeks.

Aged Fire Horse Dies After 20 Years' Work

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—An old gray mare, Rosie, for more than twenty years a San Francisco fire horse, died today at an animal farm maintained near here by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Rosie, thirty-five years old, served under four fire chiefs and was said to have been one of the oldest fire horses in America.

The firm of Newmire & Ohm have subdivided tract of land on Michigan boulevard, just west of Monte Vista park in Sunland. Streets and curbs and grading of lots is going on at a rapid rate. Gas, water and electricity are being installed and fifteen new homes are to be started at once, and many more in the near future.

The climate to be enjoyed at this elevation, together with the unsurpassed view, makes Sunland an ideal place for the homeseeker, for the man who wants to get away from the dirt and noise of a big city, where persons may enjoy life to the utmost, reveling in the life-giving sunshine or enjoying the shade of massive, silent, all-embracing, century-old oak trees, in that haven of peacefulness—Monte Vista park. This park is the Mecca of thousands of men, women and children every week-end, who motor here to enjoy the hospitality of Sunland.

At Twin Pines pavilion dancing is enjoyed by young and old at night, the music being furnished by an orchestra of men, women and children every week-end, who motor here to enjoy the hospitality of Sunland.

Community House
In addition to these comforts and pleasures, Sunland is building a Community house. This house will be used as a meeting place for the Chamber of Commerce, Women's club and kindred organizations, lodges, clubs and circles. There will be a library, banquet hall, kitchen, assembly room, auditorium seating approximately 500 persons, with a raised stage at one end and projection room at the other.

This building will be of the sixteenth century Spanish type. The grounds surrounding the building will be devoted to tennis and croquet courts, easy chairs, fountains, shrubbery and a wealth of flowers.

The money for this building is being raised in a number of ways. On Friday night, March 27, there will be given at Twin Pines pavilion "mystery" show, to be followed by a dance.

On July 3 and 4 there will be a two-day celebration at Monte Vista park, at which celebration a new Studebaker standard six phaeton will be given away. The Studebaker car was the unanimous choice of the Board of Trustees.

This car is on display at the showrooms of the Packer Motor Co., Inc., 245 South Brand boulevard, and for the convenience of Glendale people, this firm will have a supply of tickets at all times.

Following conferences with State Commander Nathan F. Coombs of the American Legion, members of the Veterans Welfare board and others, the soldiers and sailors affairs committee of the Assembly of the state Legislature is ready to push an active campaign among the members of the state Legislature for the passage of the proposed $20,000,000 farm and home loan bond issue, constitutional amendment which will be submitted to the people in 1926.

The committee composed of ex-service men recently recommended to the State Veterans Welfare board that ex-service men availing themselves of the loans under the veterans' welfare act be permitted to add $2500 of their own money to the $5000 allowed by the state for the purchase of a home. The proposed $20,000,000 bond act will follow closely the lines of the $10,000,000 act passed in 1922. War between national headquarters of the legion and California headquarters is ready to break forth. The national headquarters of the American Legion has sent forth a ukase that the ex-service

"We have protested and instead," State Adjutant James K. Fisk has announced to National Commander James A. Drinn. "We have sent with our protest a box of orange blossoms, poppies and spring flowers to show the soldiers and obey orders," Fisk declares.

Other representatives of the American Legion are to attend a conference of delegates from all of the western states at Salt Lake City soon to formulate plans for carrying forward the $5,000,000 American Legion endowment fund drive.

The fund is to be used for welfare work and for aid to disabled soldiers and sailors.

National Commander J. A. Drinn of the American Legion and Russell Creston, national adjutant of the organization will be present to outline the plan of the drive and for raising the $400,000 quota. The California delegates will be State Adjutant James K. Fisk, Dr. John F. Slavich of Oakland, chairman of the child's welfare committee for California, and D. Snapper Ingram of Los Angeles, head of the Forty and Eight Society of the Legion.

Members of the American Legion state executive committee were in attendance last week at the state Legislature when the repeal of the criminal syndicalism act was snowed under in committee by a vote of 20 to 0. The repealer was sponsored by Assemblyman William B. Horn-blower of San Francisco. The legion went on record against the repeal some weeks ago.

Hundreds of California school children have entered the American Legion's national essay contest for the best essay on "Why has the American Legion Legion, an organization of veterans of the World War dedicated itself, first of all to 'Uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America?'"

The contest is being conducted under the direction of the local school authorities in every community and the contest for California will close June 1, 1925.

A TAXLESS CITY!

Wouldn't it be nice to have Glendale a taxless city? "It's possible." Other cities have it. Why not Glendale? Cut down all unnecessary expenditures, turn into money the collections of garbage, boxes, paper, bottles, etc., etc. Then let our thoughts turn to municipal ownership of all public utilities. The profits derived from these are enormous. People from outside places would flock to our fair town by the thousands, while the real estate operators would be kept busy locating all the newcomers.

Nucleus of Stores at North Pacific and Glenoaks Blvd.

J. W. MORRISON, Architect

Showing his confidence in the future business possibilities of North Pacific avenue and Glenoaks boulevard, Emil Gsell has just completed an addition of a three-story drug store to the building erected one year ago. The building is of brick construction and measures 132 feet long by 60 feet deep.

C. R. Colburn was the contractor and builder and J. W. Morrison the designer and architect.

Those occupying space in this building are H. L. Perdeu, who conducts a first-class drug store; Sam Seelig, fine groceries; B. & E. Meat Market and Schuyler & Harshman, fruits and vegetables; G. W. Patterson, barber shop; Miss Ruth McGinnis, beauty shop; Stevens & Challer, Dry Cleaners; C. H. Lyon, Dry Goods; A. G. Bartley, Realtor, and Holly Ideal Bakery.

Mr. Gsell has been a resident of Glendale since September, 1920, coming here from Rockville, Connecticut.

He first had a chicken ranch, which he later subdivided. He then had a small grocery and soft drink stand on what is now the intersection of Pacific avenue and Glenoaks boulevard, but with the increase of population in this section it was necessary for him to build an up-to-date building.

He has always been a Glendale booster, especially the Northwest section, which is the fastest growing section in the fastest growing city in the world.

Beach Conference

Educational and civic organizations in Redondo Beach joined yesterday in extending gracious hospitality to the 300 or more P-T-A. leaders of First district P-T-A. who gathered for conference at the beach high school. Flags decorated the streets of the city; flowers were presented to those attending the conference by the Redondo Chamber of Commerce, and Parent-Teacher executives and members, teachers and pupils of the high school were most cordial in their entertainment. Mrs. J. Wesley Lee of Long Beach, district president, presided.

Indicative of Glendale's active participation in district and state P-T-A. affairs was the large local delegation in attendance. Among Glendale women present were Mesdames John Robert White, Jr., O. H. Spradling, A. H. Brown, E. B. Moore, Mae Rosenberg, A. G. Evans, E. I. Smith, George Prikett, Rose Mescher, P. H. Zehring, D. S. Phillips, W. G. Lauderdale, George B. Squires, W. R. Wichter, S. C. Lowry, A. Read, Clark C. Johnson, A. T. Wintersgill, R. N. Stryker, Arthur Franklin, W. B. Alexander, H. V. Henry, J. Edwards, R. A. Van Osdel, H. C. Saulsbury, M. C. Purdy, S. H. Welch, Jessie Hellman, E. M. Miller, J. W. Rowley and Katherine V. Sinks. L. T. Rowley was the only man from Glendale present.

"Publicity" was the subject of the morning session, with Mrs. E. B. Moore of Glendale, district publicity chairman, presenting as speaker Katherine V. Sinks, club editor of The Glendale Evening News, and member of the Southern California Women's Press club. The subject proved to be of vital interest to the women and at the close of her talk Miss Sinks conducted a live roundtable discussion, with splendid response from her audience. Much praise was given The Glendale Evening News for its cooperation with and support of P-T-A. and many requests were made by presidents and publicity chairmen for copies of The News to serve as models for work of editors and reporters in their home cities.

One feature of the conference was the passing of a resolution commending all editors who suppress crime or scandal involving young people. Greetings from the city and high school were given by Prof. Langworthy, principal of the high school. Pupils of the school entertained with organ selections and a clever one-act play. Mrs. A. H. Brown of Glendale, district parliamentarian, directed a law drill. Jerome Shaffer, impersonator, appeared on the morning program. Luncheon was served in the school cafeteria, which was turned over to the district delegates. Glendale again had a place on the afternoon program. Mrs. H. V. Henry of Glendale, district chairman of home department, conducting a roundtable discussion on home reading. She also spoke on reading circle work, announcing that at the April conference pamphlets on reading circle organization will be available. Other subjects of the afternoon were emblems and magazines, recreation, thrift and juvenile protection.

Radio Program

Glendale Parent-Teacher associations will be represented by a double quartet from the Madrigal club, on the program broadcast from KHJ, at 2:30 o'clock the afternoon of April 8 by First District P-T-A. Throughout the district plans are being made for radio teas this afternoon, and it is possible that such an affair will be held in Glendale.

Sophomore Mothers

Mothers of sophomore pupils of the Glendale High school are to be received Monday afternoon at the John Robert White home, 347 North Orange street. Mrs. White is arranging a "get-acquainted" affair and invites all mothers of sophomore pupils to attend.

German Politician And Newspaper Editor Dies

COLOGNE, March 27.—Joseph Smeets, the Separatist leader, died here today. Smeets was one of Germany's foremost politicians.

He was leader of the Rhine republican movement as well as editor of the Rheinisch Republik. So bitter was political antagonism against him that he edited his newspaper in his own home and worked behind a cordon of guards. Despite this precaution, a young man rushed into Smeets' office,

March 18, 1923, and wounded Smeets and killed Smeets' brother-in-law, Herr Kaiser, who acted as his secretary.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

RICKETS AND SUNSHINE

(Part 2)

I told you the other day that babies on normal diets will sometimes develop rickets, unless they have plenty of sunshine or unless they have cod liver oil or one egg yolk a day.

Today I want to talk a little more on the sunshine cure.

It used to be thought that plants only had the ability to directly take and use the sunlight to build up their tissues, but we know now that the animal kingdom also can use certain elements of the sunlight.

It has been found, by animal experimentation and by observation of babies and children, that they may develop rickets on diets that are apparently normal, but if these animals and children are exposed to the sunlight, something is absorbed which activates the food principles so that they are better utilized by the body, and the rickets will be cured. This something which is absorbed by the air is thought to be the invisible ultra-violet ray.

This makes us realize the extreme importance of the amount of sunlight. It has been found that rickets will develop most in the spring because the spring follows the winter when children are not out in the sunlight enough, especially in cold climates.

The sunlight must be the direct sunlight—that is, not filtered through clothing or glass, because that filters out the curative rays.

When it is cold, as it is in the winter, young babies cannot have the benefit of the direct sunlight on their arms and legs and that is the reason they should get the cod liver oil. However, it is just as important for the children who are old enough to have their arms and legs exposed even in the winter months, to have their cod liver oil. Of course, you have to remember, always, that these two things have to be combined with correct diet and other hygienic measures.

This is the way the sunlight treatment is given to the children who are old enough to be exposed during the cold weather, in the Jewish orphan home in New York. Warm dresses are made of heavy material sewed across the bottom, something like little rompers. They are made without sleeves. There is an elastic run around the arms and around the openings for the little legs to come through, so that they hug tight and the cold does not go under them. In these the children are put in the sunlight for about fifteen minutes. Gradually the time is increased until they can stay for an hour or so.

The arms are covered up when they are first exposed, and when they get used to this amount of cold and sunlight, then the arms are exposed also. And when it is very mild, the chest and the back are exposed.

Of course there can be no rule about this exposure. It has to be regulated according to the temperature and the sensitiveness of the babies' skins. The treatment should be given every day if possible, but four or five times a week seem to suffice.

It is found in this hospital that the signs of rickets disappear under this treatment.

Summary: To prevent and cure rickets:

1. Correct diet.
2. Direct sunlight (not through glass), or through the quartz mercury vapor lamp.
3. Egg yolks.
4. Cod liver oil.

The baby who has rickets should be under the care of a children specialist.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope with your name and address. The pamphlet on rickets which we are sending you is one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible; if they are of general interest, don't forget the name, if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

THE HEALTHFUL RHUBARB

TOMORROW'S MENU

- Breakfast: Bananas, Cereal, Creamed Dried Beef, Pop-Overs, Coffee
- Luncheon: Omelet, Wholeheart Bread, Stewed Rhubarb, Tea
- Dinner: Hungarian Goulash, Rice Croquettes, Cold Slaw, Raisin Turnovers, Coffee

Rhubarb dishes are not only delicious, but especially good for one in the spring. Try the two following recipes:

Rhubarb-Raisin Pie: Put one and one-half cups of ordinary bread flour into a bowl with one teaspoon of salt and cut into this, with two knives (held so that the two flat sides of blades touch in crossing, like a pair of scissors), one-half cup each of butter and lard. When the fat is finely cut up and blended with the flour, add two-thirds of a cup of cold water, stirring it in gradually. Turn the dough out onto a floured board and divide in two equal halves. Roll one half out into as nearly circular shape as possible, and lift it on to a pie pan (never grease a pie do that of itself). Stick it all over the bottom with a form to allow for escape of steam, then put in the following filling: Mix together one and one-half cups of uncooked, diced rhubarb, peeled, one-half cup of halved seedless raisins, two rolled crackers, one beaten egg, and one and one-half cups of granulated sugar. Now roll out in the other half of your pastry, in circular shape, and gently lift this circle onto the filling. Press edges together around edge of pie, and, with a sharp knife-blade, make slashes in a neat design in the center to allow for escape of steam through the top crust. Slip the pie into a hot oven to bake for about thirty-five minutes.

Rhubarb Meringue Pudding: Soak one and one-half cups of stale white bread crumbs in two cups of sweet milk for twenty minutes, then add one tablespoon of melted butter, one-half cup of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt and the grated rind of one large lemon. Turn this mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Then remove it from the oven, pour over it one heaping cup of cold, sweetened, stewed rhubarb and then spread the following meringue over the rhubarb-layer: Beat the whites of two eggs very stiff with a pinch of salt, and whip into them a generous pinch of cream of tartar and one tablespoon of granulated sugar. Put the pudding back into a moderate oven so that meringue will rise and become delicately brown (this may require from ten to fifteen minutes). Chill before serving.

Tomorrow—Enamelling Zinc

Spring Wedding

One of the loveliest of early spring weddings took place Thursday night, March 26, 1925, at 8 o'clock, at Central Christian church, Miss Evangeline Quack-embush becoming the bride of Arthur L. Troxell in the presence of a large number of guests. Rev. Clifford A. Cole officiated, the single ring ceremony being used. A spring motif was carried out in the floral decorations. Before the chancel, where the bride party stood, was a floral arch, symbolizing spring in a most effective arrangement of pink sweetpeas in harmonizing shades, the base formed of snowy Chinese peach blossoms and graceful sprays of golden gladioli. Suspended from the center of the arch was a wedding bell of white narcissus. Back of the chancel were baskets of sweetpeas, tulips and fruit blossoms and ferns. On either side of the arch were palm, maidenhair ferns and other greenery. White tulle marked the pews reserved for relatives and a special section for the Glendale Rebekah lodge, of which the bride is an active member.

Preceding the entrance of the bride party a musical program was given: "The Swan" (Saint Saens), was a violin solo by A. L. Albers; Mrs. A. L. Albers sang sweetly "The Birthday" (Woodman) and Serenade (Schubert) which was accompanied by Mr. Albers. The wedding march from Lohengrin (Wagner) by Mr. Albers with piano accompaniment by Rudolf Von Liebhich, was played for the entrance of the wedding party. During the ceremony, "Traumerei" (Schumann), was played by Mr. Albers. As the bride and groom left the church, a violin solo, "Spring Song" (Mendelssohn), was played by Mr. Albers.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette over charmeuse, made on simple lines, with modish circular flounce, and trimmed with exquisite hand-embroidered medallions in hand effect, applique work and carried a long tulle veil held in place with narrow bands of orange blossoms, and pearls. She wore slippers of satin, brocade and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Margaret Braden, sister of the bride, was gowned in yellow metal cloth with overdress of gold lace, corsage of yellow ostrich plumes, and flower bandeau of gold and pearls. She carried a shower of sunburst roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of taffeta in pastel colors, trimmed with silver lace. Miss Ruth Palmer wore peach color and carried lavender sweetpeas; Mrs. Nadine Walters, pale green, and carried pink sweetpeas; Mrs. Hazel McMillan, pink, and carried pink sweetpeas; Miss Eva Dowdle, blue, and carried lavender sweetpeas. Each wore a flower bandeau and corsage of silver cloth petals.

Vivian and Eileen Chambers, nieces of Mr. Troxell, were flower girls in rose pink taffeta frocks daintily ruffled. They wore pink bandeaus and carried baskets of sweetpeas.

Little Virginia Miller, aged two-and-a-half years, the ring-bearer, wore a white ruffled frock of taffeta.

feta, bandeau of tiny rosebuds and carried the ring in a white calico bag.

Clarence Troxell attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Roy Chambers of Fullerton; Harold Larson, Earl Wallace and Wilford Braden of Los Angeles.

The bride's mother, Mrs. J. A. Quackenbush, wore a gown of silver grey crepe de chine and large blue hat. Mrs. George A. Troxell, mother of Mr. Troxell, wore sand color silk and hat of rose color.

After the ceremony the bride party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held for which 150 invitations had been issued. The rooms were decorated with pink sweetpeas and fern. The wedding cake had as decoration a miniature bride party. The cake was cut by the bride and served with ice cream.

Immediately following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Troxell left on a ten-day motor tour. Mrs. Troxell wore an ensemble suit of peacock blue silk with gold-embroidered vest and modish hat of blue.

Mrs. Troxell is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Quackenbush of 1119 East Colorado boulevard and has been a resident of the city for the past sixteen years. She was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1917 and afterward attended Occidental college. She is an accomplished violinist and a successful teacher of violin music, having at one time been a pupil of Julius Beirlich and more recently a regular student with A. L. Albers of Los Angeles. She has a large circle of friends in the city and has been honored at many pre-nuptial affairs.

Mr. Troxell is a successful contractor and builder, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Troxell, of West 39th Place, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Troxell will make their home at 4142 Eucalyptus street, Los Angeles, near the southern line of Glendale, where they will be at home after April 10.

All newly-elected officers were present at the afternoon meeting of Chapter L, P. E. O., Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Katherine Flint, 619 North Central avenue. ATWATER RESIDENTS SEEK NEW BUS LINE

Transportation Into Los Angeles Over Vermont Avenue With Transfer Privileges Being Advocated

More adequate motor bus transportation from Atwater Park into Los Angeles is being sought through a movement to have the Los Angeles Railway Co. inaugurate bus service from San Fernando road and Los Feliz into the city over Vermont avenue, allowing transfer privileges to all yellow car lines crossing Vermont.

Only one available bus line at present transfers from Los Angeles at the present time for Atwater Park residents, it is pointed out. This is the Vermont line running out of Griffith park. The nearest point at which this bus can be boarded is some distance from the built-up portion of the district, however. Other busses running along Los Feliz road afford no transfer privileges.

Inauguration of the proposed line from San Fernando and Los Feliz roads to Vermont avenue, by way of Los Feliz road, would give the Atwater district a ten-cent fare into any part of Los Angeles, it is declared. The fare over the Pacific Electric at the present time, with but curtailed transfer privileges, is seventeen cents. Efforts are now being made to have the matter of es-

Establishing a new bus line for the district brought before the State Railroad commission.

Rock Found In River Bed

Excavators at work on the new Los Feliz bridge have struck solid rock formation in the Los Angeles river bed, forcing them to blast in order to secure proper foundations for additional bridge piers. Although it will take approximately 60 days to complete the dynamiting, no material delay in the completion of the new span will be occasioned, according to J. P. Kelly, contractor on the bridge job. His men will be able to go ahead with other parts of the construction work while the blasting is being done so that little or no time will be lost. Mr. Kelly said that the work is far ahead of schedule at the present time.

Many setbacks have been encountered in building the bridge, the contractor said. Loose sand that permitted the water to seep through, ruined a large amount of concrete work at first. Now the river is dammed farther up stream so that its flow is controlled. Striking of bed rock is only one of a long list of discouraging situations that have arisen since the bridge was started.

Tree Removal Dispute

A delay in work preparatory to the widening and paving of Los Feliz road, has been occasioned by a dispute over removal of trees along the thoroughfare, according to representatives of the Los Angeles street department. A conference between members of the Park commission, street department engineers and a number of property owners is expected to settle the controversy, however, and permit the continuation of work preliminary to the actual laying of the new street.

Dog Returns To Home

Persons in Atwater Park who, in months past knew "Buddy," friendly police dog owned by J. E. Kinnard, 3940 Glenfeliz boulevard, are rejoicing with Mr. and Mrs. Kinnard over the return of the dog to his home after and a number of months, during November, "Buddy" disappeared. Every effort was made to locate the canine pet, so well known by every one in the neighborhood, but without avail. Wednesday a truck driver drove along Glenfeliz boulevard with a police dog on the front seat opposite the driver. Mrs. Kinnard recognized the animal from her front porch and called to it. "Buddy" bolted from the seat of the truck and returned to his mistress, refusing to again go with the driver of the truck.

Paving Ordinance Delayed

Final passage of an ordinance providing for the paving of Perilla avenue between Silverlake boulevard and Fletcher drive, was postponed one month by the Los Angeles City Council upon the request of residents of that district yesterday. The ordinance pending before the council provided for the paving of the street in this block with sand and gravel. Protestants asked that the specifications be changed to provide for permanent asphalt paving. A new petition will be circulated seeking this improvement and will be presented to the council within the next thirty days, it was stated.

Building And Realty News

Myrtle C. Webster has sold her unimproved property on Edenhurst avenue, Walnut Park, to Morris M. Bell, who will shortly erect a stucco bungalow. Sproul Brothers, Atwater contractors, are building two new bungalows on Glenfeliz boulevard near Los Feliz road. C. H. Dodd, contractor, is making an addition to his residence at 3785 Glenfeliz place.

Personals From District

L. R. Brainerd, Boston man who has been visiting his brother, Dr. E. C. Brainerd on Valleybrink road, is recovering from a serious illness contracted since arriving in California. E. G. Wurtz, 3806 Glenfeliz boulevard, who was recently called to Columbus, Ohio, by the death of his father, will not return to Atwater Park until Easter time, according to word received this week. B. L. Taylor, formerly of Texas and now residing at 3778 Glenfeliz place, has leased the soda fountain and candy departments in a drug store at Garden Junction and Sunset boulevard, Los Angeles, and will manage that business. Mrs. Arthur E. Lucius, 2779 Valleybrink road is again confined to her home suffering with an attack of flu.

EAGLE ROCK NEWS TELLS OF 'WINTER'

Residents Return From Trip To Little Bear Where Snow Prevails

EAGLE ROCK, March 27.—J. H. Montgomery and C. K. Kennedy of this section have returned from a mid-winter outing to Little Bear lake, with glowing accounts of the Alpine conditions there. "Caught in the rain, we didn't know what a treat was in store for us," is the way Mr. Kennedy puts it. "During the night the rain turned to snow and in the morning everything was covered with a white mantle five inches deep. It would have been 'Jingle Bells' sure, if we'd had a sleigh instead of a car."

There will be another "story hour" for children at the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it is announced by Mrs. Blanchette A. Gardiner, librarian. Mrs. Gardiner calls attention as follows to new books in the library:

Mark Twain, "Autobiography." Too well known to say more about. Egan, Maurice, "Recollections of a Happy Life." Personal reminiscences interesting and full of humor.

Burke, Thomas, "Wind and the Rain." Whimsical and poetic. Lagerlof, "Selma Marbacka." Sketches of Swedish life. McGovern, "To Lhasa in Disguise."

Hsieh, "Two Gentlemen of China." Home life of the Chinese. Thomas, "With Lawrence in Arabia." Personal experiences with natives. Haardt, "Across the Sahara in a Motor Car." Desert life and possibilities of Africa in years to come.

Mrs. W. L. Koethen and daughter, of Live Oak View avenue, moved recently to Laguna Beach and spent the week with the former's sister and husband.

Miss Ruth Thompson's concert, which was scheduled for March 24 at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse has been postponed to April 7.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 27.—Maypole dances, a track meet and many other interesting events are promised the children of this community on "Gala Day," May 1. The predominating colors will be orange and black. The affair will be held on the grounds of the Central school.

"If you have a Japanese parasol, dust it off and have it ready on Gala Day," says Mrs. Maddox. "If not, we want you to get one. Eagle Rock is going to bloom parasols on May 1."

H. G. Warren, who was chairman of the recent Community Chest drive, urges local residents to refer all charity begging cases to headquarters, as the fund raised is ample to care for all worthy charities.

Miss Frances Blackmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Blackmer, has gone to Oklahoma City, where she has assumed work with the State Library commission. She will, during the spring and summer, complete her studies in the University of Oklahoma, to secure a degree. In the fall Miss Blackmer will go to New York, to enter the university at Albany. She will there complete her course in library science.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hersom, 5215 Eagle Rock boulevard, have left for Washington, D. C. Mr.

finned to her home suffering with an attack of flu.

Hersom has been called to Washington on business and his wife decided this would be a good opportunity for her to visit her friends in the east. They will be absent about a month, and on the return trip will visit New York, Niagara, Chicago and Minneapolis, the last named being Mrs. Hersom's home city. She is looking forward with pleasure to renewing acquaintances with her childhood friends.

Chapter DA of the P. E. O. sisterhood held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Hensley, 5143 Hermosita avenue, on Monday. The program was in charge of Mrs. Caroline Kemble.

Unemployment in Canada is declining and railway traffic is gaining.

SOCIETY BELLE IS AWARDED DIVORCE

Irene Dalton, Screen Actress, Named Corespondent By Sportsman's Wife

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 27.—Mrs. Florence Owens, Toledo society belle, won her divorce suit against John Raymond Owens, millionaire sportsman here today. Judge Austin awarded the decree to Mrs. Owens on the grounds of neglect and extreme cruelty. She was also given $150,000 alimony and custody of her little daughter, for whom a trust fund of $50,000 was created. Irene Dalton, Hollywood screen actress, was named in Mrs. Owens' bill as co-respondent.

BETTER MEATS

How do you feel about quality when you buy a suit of clothes? Do you want the salesman to tell you the truth as to the cloth? Do you expect to buy a high grade worsted garment at as low a price as shoddy? Why not apply these principles when buying your meat? There are nearly one dozen grades of beef offered for sale. Do not sacrifice quality for price. When you pay for Prime Meat, do you get it—or do you get medium or common? Prime Beef contains fat, and unless it has streaks of fat through it, it is not Prime—"not yellow fat, but white." Do not think you are wasting money when you get meat with nice white fat on it—you are buying the assurance of genuine nutrition as well as genuine tastiness, and you will not need to call in a dietitian to prescribe for you. Meat for Health! Eat more of it.

FOUR PERSONS DEAD IN PRAIRIE FLAMES

Scores of Farm Houses In Nebraska, the Dakotas and Oklahoma Burn; Livestock And Wild Game Perish In Furnace

BULLETIN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 27.—Telephone reports from lumber company officials at Broken Bow this morning said that the wind had shifted and danger to the town from prairie fires had passed. The fires are believed, according to reports, to be under control.

OMAHA, March 27.—Four persons are known to have been killed in prairie fires which today were sweeping the prairies of Nebraska, Oklahoma and the Dakotas, driving hundreds of settlers from their homes and menacing entire communities.

Scores of farm houses lie in ruins today and much livestock has been destroyed, according to reports. The fatalities were reported from Valentine, Neb.

In Oklahoma, the flames, were said to be raging through McCurtain and Pushmataha counties in the southwestern part of the state. The state game preserve was being swept by the fire and hundreds of wild animals were fleeing before the blaze, reports stated.

The fire in the Dakotas was being driven by a high wind which sped it through the tall prairie grass sixty miles an hour. Volunteer fire brigades were being mustered throughout the district today, and fire wardens, in airplanes, were hovering over the flame-swept areas searching for possible victims.

The flames broke out following weeks of dry weather which dried the vegetation into tinder.

Jazz Girl Is Willing To Enter Guilty Plea

morning session of the fifth day of her trial ordeal came to an end.

As court adjourned Dorothy, who had held up with greater calmness than at any other session, rose steadily to her feet and apparently held command of herself. After walking a few steps, however, she sank limply into the arms of an attending bailiff and was carried unconscious from the courtroom to the jury room where she was placed upon a table and restoratives administered.

Girl's Confession
During the cross-examination of prospective jurors Attorney Walter McGovern had injected the startling theory today that the confession of Dorothy was the raving of a disordered mind. He repeatedly asked jurors if they would disregard the girl's confession if it were shown that it was made by an insane person.

He frankly announced today that insanity was to be the main defense of the girl but all the time stressed in his questioning of jurors the possibility that Dorothy might be "lying" to shield some one else.

Ten minutes after her breakdown Dorothy recovered sufficiently to be led over to the jail infirmary, accompanied by her father.

'MANNA' SCENES ARE DRAMATIC

Drama Coming to Playhouse Monday Affects Even Members Of Cast

The old argument, "do actors feel the emotions they portray, or is the speaking of the playwright's words just a matter of business with them?" is always interest- ing. There have been powerful voices on both sides of the con- troversy.

Mansfield was among the anti- sts. To win a wager, on a night, when the house was in tears and his voice trembled with apparent emotion in the big scene of one of his plays, he winked at a friend in the stage box to show he was entirely unaffected.

Other actors equally as great, take the affirmative position. They do feel the words they speak; they believe no character- ization is great without real feel- ing.

If feeling is the touchstone, then "Manna," which opens at the Glendale Playhouse next Mon- day night, when the Dobinson Players present this drama of love and faith, should be an outstand- ing success. Director Fred But- ler says he's having trouble with his people because they feel too much.

The first act is described as in- tensely affecting. So are parts of the other three acts, though they are frequently relieved by comedy situations. But it hap- pens that every now and again the voice of the actor reciting his part grows muffled and indistinct. Shamefacedly he wipes his eyes.

Butler Comments

Mr. Butler is always consider- ate and a halt is called until the affected one—often it is ones— recover his, or their, composure. "I'm glad they feel it," he said. "To tell the truth, it gets me, too. I don't want stolid, stogy people around me. They may recite the lines perfectly, but the spark of real feeling is what puts it over with the audience."

"But I want these young peo- ple to get all the soba out of their system by Monday night." Three days this week, the especially af- fecting parts in which only a few people appear were rehearsed in a private residence across the street from the theatre.

"The Ruined Lady" played to another packed house last night and chalked up another record for the Playhouse cashbook. The irresistible lines of Miss Lloyd and the other members of the cast were sure-fire and brought roars of laughter.

The strings of colored lights in front of the theatre at night can be seen for a considerable dis- tance and help out-of-town pat- rons to find the Playhouse with less trouble than formerly. They are learning that it is right up Central, three blocks north of Broadway.

COOGAN HONORED FOR RELIEF WORK

Youthful Star Of 'Rag Man' Current Film Showing At Gateway, Hero

While in Athens, Greece, on his mission of mercy for the Near East Relief, Jackie Coogan was decorated with "The Golden Cross of the Order of St. George," the highest honor that Greece can bestow for humanitar- ian service. This medal was given to Jackie on the day he delivered the $1,000,000 cargo of foodstuffs to the officials of the Near East Relief in Athens. In the pres- ence of seven thousand boys and girls of his own age, in what is reported to have been one of the most impressive ceremonies ever witnessed in Athens, Jackie was signally honored for his great work.

Second Honor
The second decoration was ten- dered him by the Greek church, and is known as the Golden Cross of the Order of Jerusalem, one of the most highly prized of all ec- clesiastical decorations in the world. In explanation of the ac- tion of the Greek church, the Near East Relief officials issued the following statement:

"The visit of Jackie Coogan to the Near East aroused more in- terest overseas than any other American humanitarian move- ment in years. Throughout Greece and the Holy Land the news was published in every conceivable form. The Golden Cross of the Order of Jerusalem is intended by the Greek church as a gift and token of appreciation not merely to young Mr. Coogan, but through him to all the children of America who made his crusade possible."

Jackie's "The Rag Man" now is playing today and tomorrow at Gateway Theatre.

Strong Roles

WILLIAM FAIRBANKS and EVA NOVAK score a big hit in "THE FEARLESS LOVER," the current picture at the Glendale theatre.

William Fairbanks and Eva Novak have strong roles in "The Fearless Lover," at the Glendale theatre today and Saturday. There is action galore in this thrill- ing police photoplay, ending in a free-for-all fight between detec- tives and gangsters in a city pool- room. Tom Kennedy, well-known heavyweight fighter and at pres- ent manager of the American Le- gion stadium in Hollywood, is in the cast. Scott Dunlap wrote the story and Henry McRae directed.

The program at the Glendale theatre Friday and Saturday in- cludes a complete road show of five Orpheum acts booked through the Western Vaudeville Managers' association. The headliner is "The Cotton Pickers," with Mickie and Elsie McGarry, Bert Coleman, Peter J. Smith, Ray Kelly and Walter Swartz, in a snappy group of negro songs.

Joe Whitehead, billed as the "musical comedy star" has been featured in some of New York's and Chicago's biggest hits. He has starred in "The Girl Ques- tion," "Red Mill," "Empire," "Time, Place and the Girl," and others. Jack and Claire McMa- hon in "Variety With a Punch" is a keen act combining two distinct- ively diversified offerings, ath- letics and dancing, presented by two past masters in their respec- tive lines. The Wiseman Sisters, Lucile and Mildred, offer an "In- imitable Musical." One of the sis- ters has a clear full soprano voice and the other is a star on the vio- lin.

BARBECUE TO SET NEW TRACT BOOM

L. H. Wilson, Handling Burton Heights Sales, To Be Host Sunday

So much interest was shown and so many lots sold last Sun- day at Burton Heights that it has been decided to celebrate the event by putting on a barbecue next Sunday, and having plenty of good food and an enjoyable time for everybody.

Practically every buyer in Bur- ton Heights has declared his in- tention of building and making this beautiful southern slope his permanent home. Government statistics declare La Crescenta, after a thorough investigation, to be one of the healthiest spots in the whole United States, and we, who have investigated, know it to be one of the most delightful and beautiful. The tract is being mar- keted by L. H. Wilson.

The same beautiful and advan- tageous surroundings which made Glendale the fastest growing city in America, are working today to give La Crescenta Valley the same reputation. A very few years ago Glendale was referred to as a little town out north in the mountains, but busy people soon learned that it was an ideal spot for a home, away from the hustle and bustle of the city. But no longer can Glendale be referred to as a little town in the moun- tains. All love Glendale who know it, but there is no denying the fact that it is rapidly growing into a big city, with city prices and city ways.

Hint to Investor
The investor does well, indeed, if he can see the trend of devel- opment and locate in its path. It is the small wage-earner's only chance of a sure thing in the way of big profits.

Think of that great metropolis, Los Angeles, doubling itself with such rapidity that it amazes the world, and in spite of the fact that much damaging propaganda has been broadcast to injure its growth. However, we all know that the growth of Los Angeles cannot be stopped. It is some- times checked for a short period by malicious reports, but one might as well try to stop the flow of the mightiest waters, because the growth of Los Angeles is based upon the same sound, sci- entific reasons as the tide of the ocean; in other words, perfectly natural and normal, even though it sometimes seems phenomenal. Then think what this continual rapid growth is going to mean to Los Angeles' choicest suburbs, or in a very short time you will join the chorus of "I know it when I see it." Don't join either chorus—go out to this fine subdivision, enjoy the barbecue, and find out for yourself why this is such a wonderfully favored sec- tion.

"None are so blind as those who will not see," and "Those who will not be counselled cannot be helped."

COURT PROCEDURE BORES FILM STAR

Lillian Gish Manager Seeks To Restrain Her From Working For Others

NEW YORK, March 27.—Lil- lian Gish, screen star, maintained a bored attitude when the ac- tion of Charles H. Duell, president of the Inspiration Film Co., to re- strain her from appearing for any other film company, went into its third day of trial in federal court here today.

Boyce Smith of Montclair, N. J., an executive of the Inspiration company, was the first witness to- day. Smith, in addition to being an officer of the company, said that he was a law partner of Duell. He was placed on the stand by Hammond Duell, who is acting as counsel for his brother, to show that the company was fair in its dealings with the ac- tress.

Big Audience
Hundreds of persons crowded the courtroom. All were men, with the exception of one woman. Attorney Smith testified that his law firm represented Miss Gish from 1922 to 1924. He said he adjusted her income tax so that he saved her $2,444 and also won for her a rebate and payment from the government of $1500 in tax payments. Direct examination of Smith was completed just before the noon recess.

MERCHANTS MEET PAINTERS SUNDAY

Bacom Has Pasadena Team As Opponents Provided Rain Holds Off

If the contemporaries of the Hatfield brothers will only hold off long enough, the Glendale Merchants will make their appearance at the ball park on San Fernando road Sunday afternoon, with the Pasadena Paints as opponents. Manager M. R. Bacom announces. The Merchants celebrated their debut last Sunday by defeating the strong Buick Autos, and are out to add another victory.

The Pasadena Paints are far from being a setup for the local club, as the visitors hold wins over such teams as Blue Bird Laundry, Hawthorne, Wilmington and Classy Hats. It was Hawthorne that beat the Buick Autos after Dad Thielman's outfit had run up a string of nineteen consecutive victories.

Walter Hylder will do the mound work for the locals, with Verne Nobles behind the log. Bill Shafer, who was with the Omaha Western league club last season, will do the hurling for the visitors. Kerwin is slated to be on the receiving end. Other minor league stars with the Painters include Ray Schellenbach and George Haas. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock, and admission will be free again next Sunday.

BOWLING SCORES

The Palace Grand Barbers failed to give the Pensner Brothers bowling team a close shave, as anticipated, the electricians taking all three games in their Mercantile league match last night. Dave of the losers topped the others with 238 in the opening contest. The Coast to Coast Army Store took the Central Cleaners for a cleaning in another Mercantile league match, the merchants winning the first two games, but easing up on the third. High score was made by Loomis of the losers, when he rolled 226 in the second frame.

Jack Dempsey Given Week To Answer Defi

NEW YORK, March 27.—Jack Dempsey has been staked to an extra week in which to answer the challenge of Harry Wills before the latter makes other plans. It developed today. Still hoping to receive a favorable answer from the champion, Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, has told Tom Rickard that he will not consider a bout with Tom Gibbons until after April 3. If he has not heard from Dempsey within that time, Mullins intimated he would be ready to discuss a Gibbons bout. Negotiations for the Gibbons-Wills match are being conducted by Rickard in the interests of the local milk fund.

Prepares for Future Years

EDDIE FARRELL, star shortstop and captain of the Pennsylvania baseball team last year, has been signed up by McGraw to play with the Giants this season, being another youngster Jawa has added so he will have a good infield in coming seasons.

EDDIE FARRELL

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News
John McGraw has little cause for worry over his infield these days. In fact he has a right to feel that he is sitting pretty.

The Kelly-Terry combination fortifies the first base position for some years to come. Terry is a youngster, a good hitter and a beautiful fielder. Kelly, over night, became acquainted with the outfielding job when moved to center field last season to make room for Terry at first. Now McGraw has Kelly to move to first should any accident befall Terry—and extra outfielders to shove into Kelly's place without weakening the club's batting or fielding strength.

Frankie Frisch, Giant captain and slated to succeed McGraw as manager one of these days, is one of the greatest second sackers and hitters in the game. He has years ahead of him.

Jackson at Short
Travis Jackson, the man who stepped into Dave Bancroft's shoes at short, is demanding a place in the shortfield sun after less than two full campaigns.

Heinie Groh's days at third are numbered, but McGraw has Freddie Lindstrom ready to send to that bag the minute Groh falls. And Lindstrom's work in the spring training camp this year may cause McGraw to give Groh a push and not wait for him to fall.

Frisch can play short and third as well as he can second. Jackson, a shortstop by trade, can play second or third well. Freddie Lindstrom was signed as a second baseman. Groh can play second as well as third.

Adds Eddie Farrell
And Ross Young, veteran outfielder, is no slouch at second base—a fact not generally known.

But McGraw is not resting on his oars. One of his recent moves was the obtaining of a promise from Eddie Farrell, star shortstop of the University of Pennsylvania team, that that gentleman would report to the Giants when the college baseball season ends next summer.

Terris Gets Decision Over Paluso In N. Y.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, March 27.—There is a hitch in the plans for launching the new western intercollegiate rowing association in a practical way. At least there is a hitch so far as the University of Wisconsin is concerned.

The Badgers will meet neither Washington nor California on Lake Mendota nor on the west coast this season. The universities could not come together on a date for the affair. The westerners wanted an early date, and since the Madison sweep swimmers did not get on the matter until well in April, Harry Vail, the coach, decided that his men would not be in condition for competition physically nor sufficiently far advanced in technique. Even as matters stand crew prospects at Wisconsin are not regarded as overly-bright. Five men of the eight which finished as runner-up to Washington at Poughkeepsie last summer, have been graduated, and while the cause McGraw to give Groh a push and not wait for him to fall.

The 1924 Badger crew was the product of two years of intensive coaching and training and Vail fears that at least a year must elapse before the present outfit can be compared to the men who sat in last year's ship.

Wisconsin is getting a new shell and Vail is working with the idea of having the Red and White eight slide across the finish line on the Hudson next June in an honorable position if not at the head.

Vail, by the way, now ranks as the grand old man of rowing. His hair is thinner and whiter than it used to be. He is over 60 years old.

Yet he is still able to sit in the shell, seize a sweep and hold up his end with the lustiest youngsters. Last spring, for instance, in an effort to adjust the rhythm of the stroke he himself took an oar and rowed the three-mile distance under racing speed.

The south will see more northern college baseball teams this year than ever before. In addition to the eastern nines, who will take advantage of the spring sunshine in Dixie, almost all the western conference teams will go south of Mason and Dixon's line within the next week or so.

Post-Season Series
The Foothill league teams will indulge in a post-season series, to start Monday night. Twelve teams from three cities—Glendale, Pasadena and Hollywood—composed the Foothill league and the high team from each city will compete in the post-season series. Glendale will be represented by the Carlocks, winners of first place in the league; Pasadena will be represented by the Rogers' Barbers and Hollywood will be represented by the Hollywood Storage team. Each team will play three games in each city. The schedule calls for games at Pasadena on Monday night, Hollywood on Wednesday night and Glendale on Friday night.

About the middle of April a Summer league will start, with ten teams competing. This league is in process of formation. One of the teams expected to enter is the Calla Lily creamery, a newcomer in local bowling circles. E. Page, owner of the creamery, and his men were practicing on the alley last night and made a formidable showing.

The Pacific Electrics, together with three other Glendale teams, will enter the Pacific coast tournament, to be held at San Francisco on May 1 to 17. The other three teams have not been selected as yet.

Christian Church and Legion Will Meet Later; Dope Story Tomorrow

There will be another postponed game to be played before the second round of the Glendale Merchants' basketball league is finished, following the failure of the Legion and Christian church teams to play their scheduled game last night at the Harvard High school gym. Failure of several players on both teams to

Only two weeks more remain on the league schedule, and while first place is clinched by the Huli Trucks, there will be a race for second spot. DICK HOPPE AND CARTER TO MEET

Two Fast Lightweights In Main Event Tonight at Hollywood Ring

Dick Hoppe, Glendale scrapper, will have a chance tonight at the Hollywood American Legion stadium to prove to fans that he is what he thinks he is—a better man than Tommy Carter. Carter held the Pacific coast lightweight belt until a couple of months ago. He won the title from Johnny Adams. Hoppe and Carter met in a titular bout when Carter held the crown, but an unintentional foul by Hoppe terminated the battle.

Tonight Hoppe will enter the ring prepared to make the biggest comeback of his career. He has met such men as Oakland Frankie Burns, Phil Salvatore, Tommy Cello and Ace Huddins. He fought his way to the semifinals in the Hollywood American Legion lightweight tournament. The winner of tonight's battle will challenge the winner of the Benjamin-Huddins scrap to settle the coast title.

Eddie Digins and Jimmy Hutchinson will mix in the semi-windup of six rounds. Frankie Osner and Sammy Sandow are down for a six-round special preliminary mill. K. O. Barrett and Kid Lombardo are booked for four rounds, and Snowy Johnston and Young Carpenter will open the show with four rounds of fighting.

SPORT CHATTER

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 27.—The best round of golf played by any amateur in competition in this part of the country this season was turned in by Stanley Thompson, of Toronto, in the qualifying round of the ninth annual winter championship of Florida here.

In winning the qualifying medal against a fast field which included his brother, Frank Thompson, Canadian amateur title holder, George Morse, the Vermont star, M. Smith, of Kansas City and others, Stanley came within two strokes of equalling the amateur course record of 69 made by Willie Hunter, ex-British amateur title holder, two years ago.

The husky son of Canada was in rare form. His driving and putting were particularly excellent and with his combination working nicely Thompson had no great difficulty in getting out in the exceptional score of 32. Coming back he slipped a little but managed to get under 40.

Stanley Thompson is one of four brothers all of whom have made names for themselves in golf. Frank holds the Canadian title. Bill gave Bobby Jones his hardest match in the national championship at Marion last fall. Thompson is a well-known Canadian professional.

RELIEVED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE AFTER TAKING ALVITA

Mrs. Jennie F. Benson, 1081 E. Alder street, Portland, Ore., who had suffered for years from severe kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder, gives thanks to Alvita Tablets for her recovery.

"I have had a lot of trouble for years with inflammation of the bladder, but since taking Alvita have not had any sign of it. My kidneys have always given me trouble every winter during the wet weather, but this year I have not had any bad spells and very little trouble of any kind that way. My stomach has been one of my main troubles all my life, but I can eat almost anything I want to now and it never distresses me since I am using Alvita Tablets. They are certainly a wonderful remedy."

Alvita Tablets are scientifically prepared from the wonderful alfalfa plant, which through its long root absorbs the vital elements—lime, iron and phosphates—necessary to health and vigor. Alvita has proved especially beneficial in building up weakened, run-down conditions, and in overcoming kidney, bladder and prostate trouble. No matter what you have tried, try this remedy of Nature now.

Matches Lift Tennis to International Plane

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Now that the New York Athletic commission, popularly known as the boxing board, has declared Jack Dempsey ineligible for bouts it remains to be seen what will happen. Here are some of the things that may happen and they are set forth in the order of their probability.

Dempsey is one of the biggest money makers in the world. That is, he is paid more for a single appearance than any person in the world no matter what his profession is. When a boxer has this quality he is a valuable asset indeed. So the chances are that any time Jack gets ready to enter into a big show in New York state he will get a clean bill of health from the commission. New York likes big money shows more than any other place and a little thing like a suspension would not be permitted to stand in the way of them.

It will be noted that Dempsey's title has not been declared vacated, as a lot of fans seemed to think would be done. So all Dempsey has to do when he wants to defend his title is to knock at the gate.

Dempsey, now that he is suspended by the New York body will be sitting pretty than ever. No one will badger him for a fight if only because he is ineligible to do battle. So he can take his own sweet time about entering the ring.

Technically he is put out of the boxing game not only in New York but in important states and foreign countries which have working agreements with the empire state. Thus, if New York stood by its guns and the other states stuck by New York, the champion would be in for a long period of idleness and in time his title would be vacated, and turned over to Harry Wells. But this is not likely to happen.

Jack Kearns Blames Promoters For Ban

NEW YORK, March 27.—Speaking of the sentence imposed on Jack Dempsey by the commission for his failure to accept Willis' challenge, Jack Kearns today again laid the blame for the situation on the lack of available promoters.

"Richard, the man most likely to make an acceptable bid, cannot afford to do it now while in federal court on the moving picture case," Kearns said.

Walker Ready To Box In Bay City Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Ed Lynch, Dreamland promoter, announced today Mickey Walker had agreed to box "anyone in the world excepting Dempsey" in San Francisco May 16. Lynch said Lefty Cooper of Minneapolis, or Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., may be selected as the welterweight champion's opponent.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written for The Evening News

While tennis has been on a national basis for 19 years before the beginning of the present century it was not until the inauguration of the Davis cup matches in 1900 that the net game began to attract general attention.

Perhaps it was the international aspect of the games. Perhaps it was the amount of attention they drew or the class of tennis displayed. Whatever it was those who came to scoff at tennis remained to watch it about that time.

A triumph for the United States in the first games, played with the stars of the British Isles the first year probably helped create interest, on this side of the Atlantic, at least. In 1901 no games were played but the following year the American team again brought home the cup.

The following year, however, Great Britain selected a team which not only turned back Uncle Sam's best that year but kept the cup for four more seasons.

Australia Enters

Then in 1907 came the Australian heyday. With the masterful Norman E. Brookes as the spark and mainspring of its team the Antipodean crew wrested the cup from the British Isles. This was a dark year for America, the red, white and blue team losing to Great Britain in the final round and finding itself on the sidelines in the challenge round while the Lion and the Kangaroo battled it out.

Dwight Davis, donor of the cup which is now the blue ribbon trophy of the tennis world, learned tennis before the net, himself. He was national intercollegiate champion in 1899 and recognized as one of the greatest players in the country.

The interest in the Davis cup matches in the early 1900's increased interest in the national tournaments, of course. The men who won fame in those early days by virtue of their play in the national tournaments or their work with the Davis cup teams included the one and only one Bill Larned, sole rival of Bill Tilden player of all time, and Beals Wright. The latter, with Larned turned back the foreign invaders in the Davis games. Then there were Doherty, Ward and Clothier, all national title holders in that first decade of the century.

Women Pioneers

While the Davis cup matches naturally drew much of the spotlight the pioneer women players demanded a part of the attention by virtue of their sterling play. The women who played important roles in those pioneer days were Miss Elizabeth H. Moore, winner of the national title three times in five years; Miss Marion Jones, Miss May Sutton, Eleanor Sears and Hazel Hotchkiss.

Miss Hotchkiss was the first of the women to resign any length of time. She held the title three consecutive years—1909 to 1911. Miss Sutton held the title but one year. She was, however, one of the most interesting players of the decade and later on her marriage to Tom Bundy, himself a great tennis player, gave the game one of its romantic chapters.

Tennis owes much to the high type of players who stood in the limelight between 1900 and 1910. By their personal popularity, their skill and their sportsmanship they laid the foundation on which was built the present popularity of the sport.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., March 27.—With "Baby Doll" Jacobson and McManus out of the lineup the St. Louis Americans do not resemble much the Browns of old and George Sisler isn't sure that he knows exactly how he will fill their places if they do not report.

Jacobson is training with the Milwaukee team at Sanford. He hasn't been permitted to join the Browns' camp because he hasn't signed his contract. Imagine a ball player declining to sign a contract and yet going all the way to Florida to be near when the bell calls. But no one has pushed the button yet and "Baby Doll" Bill may be getting a little anxious.

McManus is somewhere in the middle west. Nothing has been heard from him in camp and it is reported that he is in love. By no means is it a bad team which Sisler will manage this year. It will be a fighting team and there is the rub. It will have to be a fighting team because all of the Browns are not so young as they were and they must enter the campaign with every ounce of steam on the boiler that it will hold. There are some wicked fighters in this year's American league and they're beginning to sharpen their spikes already.

"I have never before enjoyed a spring training trip in my life," Sisler told the writer. "This is a wonderful training climate. Our old fellows are as frisky as colts, and we have to put halters on the youngsters to keep them from running away."

The Browns have picked up a very clever catcher in Dixon who was with St. Paul and it is probable that Dixon will be in the lineup all year. That is one good find.

The regular pitchers of the Browns will be Joe Bush, formerly Yankee, whose laugh is as hearty and infectious as ever Gaston, also once a Yank, Van Gilder, Wingard, Danforth and Giard.

The latter is a southpaw who was taken from Toledo by the Yanks in order that he might be traded to the Browns. Watch him grow. He has an odd name but he throws a left hand ball with great fluency. Probably when he becomes less prodigal in the use of his arm he will be a better and happier pitcher.

Joe Evans is playing second base temporarily in the absence of McManus. Joe is a good utility man and handles the positions of first, second, third and the outfield with rare impartiality. Bennett, a fielder of promise is subbing for Jacobson.

The Browns have three young pitchers who will stick around. They are Blackholder, last year with Tulsa where he left a good record. Springer, a strong boy, and Falk, a brother of Bill Falk, of the White Sox. Falk throws left side curves but he holds his back so stiff during the process of delivering the ball that he is likely to snap his back or break his arm.

Tarpon Springs is new to the baseball business. The citizens have built a pretty field which has a background of singing pines. On the southpaw side of the ground, is a lake which is full of pond turtles and baseballs. Every time a player fouls one over the right field fence, the ball lands in the lake and buzzards and hawks have been flying over the water for a

ADDED STRENGTH WILL HELP BEES

Manager Oscar Vitt Believes Team Will Make Better Showing In 1925

By OSCAR VITT

Manager Salt Lake Club, Pacific Coast Baseball League.

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 27.—I think we have reason to believe that the Salt Lake club will be stronger this season than it was last year. The degree of additional strength, of course, is questionable, but I believe we have improved the Bees over their 1924 rating through trades made during the winter.

A player in whom we place much reliance this season is Pitcher Bill Piercy, whom we got from the Red Sox in the trade which sent Pitcher Kallio to that club. Unless all signs fail, Piercy is due for a great year and I should not be at all surprised to see him turn in twenty-five victories. At this time he looks better than he did at any time last season.

Salt Lake will have its old staff of last season, including Singleton, who won twenty-one games last season, and McCabe and O'Neill, both of whom are dependable men. We also expect good results from Hulvey, who appears to have improved greatly through his experience in the Texas league last season.

Good Prospects

We have at least two good prospects among our young pitchers. One of these is Bill Bahr, a gigantic youth from San Francisco, with a remarkable fast ball. The other is Orville McMurtry, a Fresno lad, whom I regard as one of the most promising boys I have ever seen. We need at least one left-hand pitcher and we will get one from a major league club as soon as the management of that club has looked over its men in training camp.

At first base we have Roy Leslie, who hit .339 last season, leading the league in two-base hits. He is regarded as one of the best first basemen the league has ever had. At second Howard Lindmore will again do duty. He led the league in runs scored last season, and tied with Leslie in hitting at .339.

I intend to play third myself. All effects of the injury which put me out last season have disappeared, and, although it, perhaps, is not best for a man to talk about himself, I expect to talk about share. Johnny Kerr, a San Francisco boy we obtained from the Red Sox, is showing up well at short. Tony Lazerri, who, to my notion, is one of the world's coming stars, is ready for class AA ball, and I venture the prediction he will make a name for himself this year.

We have two young infielders in Irwin Jacobson of Fresno and Charlie Gooch of Paso Robles. Jacobson looks like one of the best recruits. He fields with exceptional skill, has a good arm and stands up to the plate like a veteran. Gooch comes with a good reputation, but I have not yet had a chance to look him over.

We will again have a punch in our outfield. Frank O'Doul, who hit .392 last year; Johnnie Fredricks, hitting .353, and Leslie Sheehan, hitting .346, are our holdovers. In addition, we have Joe Connolly, former Seal, whom we got from the Red Sox.

Our catching staff is the same as last season—Peters and Cook—the former hitting .333 and the latter .301. We also have Art Thompson, a young catcher.

Southern Branch Frosh To Play Baseball Here

Southern Branch frosh and Dynamiters are scheduled to meet on the diamond at Broadway field at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Dynamiters have been playing good ball and are favored to win over the visitors. Tomorrow afternoon the finals in the class C Central league track meet will be held at Glendale.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Hydrophobia Victim

WEST POINT, Neb., March 27.—The 4-year-old son of Charles W. Mack died of hydrophobia following a bite by a mad dog three weeks ago. A son of Hans Sorenson, attacked the same day by another dog suspected of suffering from rabies, has as yet shown no symptoms of the disease.

fortnight trying to pick the balls out of the water. Shortly after dawn it rained a few drops. Having seen no rain in a month, Jimmy Austin was out at the ball park playing Maud Muller with a rake.

"It was a heavy downpour," said Jimmy, as he spied two damp spots about the size of a dime, and sponged them out. "This is a great place. Whenever you want to clean anything you go down to the dock and pick a sponge off one of the boats down there. I am buying a box of them to send home. I am going to use 'em to sponge the runs off the scoreboard at Sportsman park—whenever the other team makes them."

Under such novel training conditions owner Phil Ball, who is among those present, is hopeful that the team will recover its aplomb and win a pennant after being so near it now and then.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton & Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

Graham's heart was going like a triphammer; the excitement of the chase had taken possession of him. He went over in his mind all he had ever read of the methods by which the silent-footed vanishing, superhuman detectives of fiction shadowed their victims, and cursed his own inches and his much too smart and well-cut tweeds. He managed, however, to change with Mr. Brown to an up-town car, without apparently attracting his attention. But when it came, at last, to following on foot, his difficulties began. Mr. Brown suddenly developed an annoying habit of glancing over his shoulder at frequent but irregular intervals; pedestrians whom Graham had skillfully interposed between himself and his quarry were no sooner selected than their destination was reached and they vanished, leaving him mercilessly exposed to those disconcerting backward glances; the little shop windows into which he was driven to gaze from time to time with an air of absorbed interest, invariably displayed objects unsuited or unintelligible to the masculine eye. He grew hot and nervous; he was sure that the shopkeepers behind their windows saw through his pretense of interest in their wares, and viewed him with hostile glances; he felt that the passersby turned and eyed him askance.

It was a shabby street of shabby shops and shabby people through which they were passing. Graham wondered what a man like Brown had to do with it. All at once his heart, for a sickening instant, stood still. He had lost sight of Brown. One instant he was there, the next he was not, although Graham was certain that he had not taken his eyes from him.

Marking as best he could the spot where he had seen him last, Graham hurried forward, throwing all thought of concealment to the winds, and found himself in front of a small branch telegraph office. Glancing furtively in, he was cheered by the sight of the gray fedora which had been his beacon in a dark and black-hatted world. He relaxed and looked about for a place of concealment. A trained detective, he reflected, Flint for instance, or Briggs of the low visibility, would probably have frozen on the spot like a wild animal at the forest, and remained undetected. He was, nevertheless, neither wild enough nor trained enough to carry off so delicate a bit of artistry. Across the street a shop for men's ready-made clothing invited his attention. A mustard-colored ulster enlivened the window. He glanced again through the door which had swallowed up Brown. The man was writing a telegram. Three bounds carried Graham to the shop.

"Have you something warm for motoring which I can slip over my coat?" he demanded, of the ever-smiling proprietor.

With one eye on the door opposite he permitted himself to be enveloped in the twin of the mustard-colored atrocity; trusted his hat to Providence and the voluble promises of the shop-keeper, and inserted his head in a visored cap with a shudder. "He'll surely never connect this rig with the man who trod on his foot in the station," he commented.

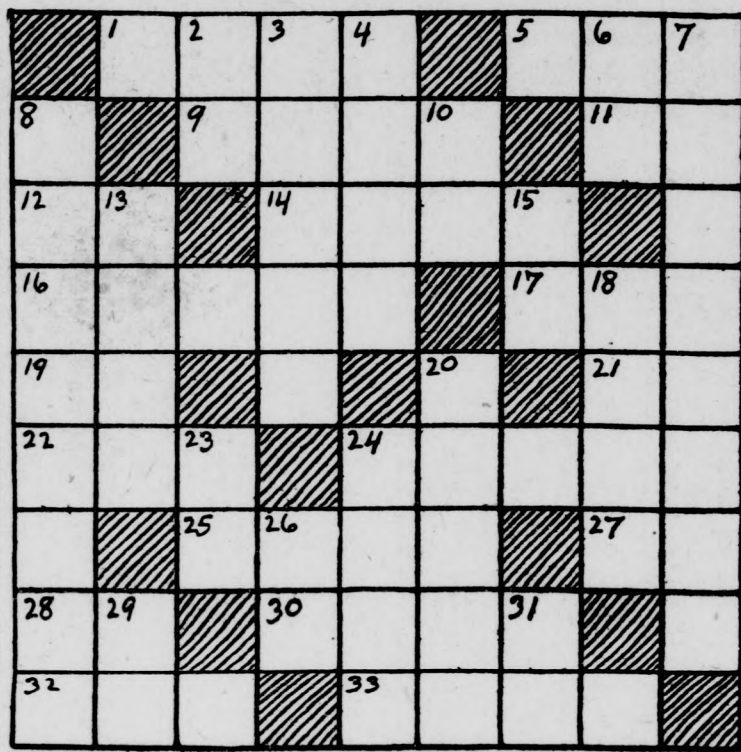

He waited at the shop door for the reappearance of Mr. Brown, feeling secure in his disguise. Suddenly a voice at his elbow startled him. "What's your game, mister?" it said.

"Game?" repeated Graham blankly.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

COMPILED FOR GLENDALE EVENING NEWS READERS

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

in bedraggled finery, caught without their rouge. Here and there appeared a neighborhood shop; here and there an apartment house put forward its best foot in the shape of a marble-pillared doorway. The street was alive with children who jostled him on every side. Yesterday he would have anathematized them; today he blessed them because, behind their screen, he could creep up closer on Mr. Brown, so that it was not more than a minute after the gray fedora had disappeared in a nondescript little shop suggestive of a mid-Victorian what-not, that he, too, was at its door.

What, he wondered, could a man like Brown want there? Toys? notions? stationery?

As he could not stand in the open street waiting for Mr. Brown to leave the shop, he looked about for a place in which to take cover. Seeing a cheap luncheon room on the other side of the street, he hurried across, took possession of a table by the window from which he had a clear view of the shop opposite, and ordered a sandwich, taking the precaution of paying for it in advance in case Mr. Brown should suddenly appear. He hoped, however, that the gentleman would remain in the shop long enough to permit him to finish his sandwich, as he was beginning to realize that he had not lunched; then, little by little, the sandwich finished, he grew impatient. What in the name of wonder was the man doing in there so long? Time was passing; he had hoped to catch the 6 o'clock train back to Albany. Every few minutes, with one eye glued to the shop door, he consulted his watch. A half hour had gone by—he could stand it no longer. Buttoning high the collar of his ulster and pulling his cap low over his eyes, he crossed boldly to the shop door, opened it and went in.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TWO RUGS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping past a carpet tack store, kept by a bulldog gentleman, the bunny saw, hanging outside, and flapping in the wind, two small rugs, one red, the other blue in color.

"Hum!" said the rabbit gentleman to himself, covering his pink, twinkling nose with his paw so the sunlight from it would not shine in his eyes. "Those are two fine rugs. I will take them home for Nurse Jane to put in our living room, since she thinks it old-fashioned to call it the parlor. Yes, I'll buy those rugs."

The bulldog gentleman who kept the carpet tack store was glad enough to sell the red and blue rugs, for he needed the money to go to the moving pictures. And soon Mr. Longears was hopping back to his hollow stump bungalow, the red rug under his right paw and the blue rug rolled up under his left paw.

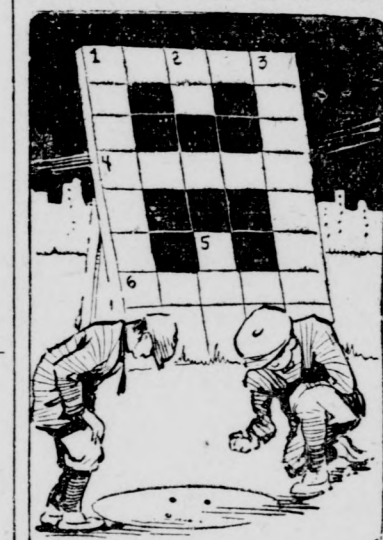

"Nurse Jane, I have brought you a little present!" called the bunny gentleman as he hopped up the steps.

"Oh, how lovely!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper when she saw the rugs. "We'll put the red one in front of the piano and the blue one in front of the easy chair. Then your paw nails will rest on the rug and they won't scratch the new hardwood floors."

"That's a good idea," said Uncle Wiggily, so he spread the red rug in front of the piano, and the blue rug in front of the easy chair, and then he sat down to read the evening paper, resting his paws on the blue rug.

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzly bustled in and out of the rooms, clearing the dishes from the table and tidying up the bungalow, and soon Uncle Wiggily, out of the corner of his eye, saw the blue rug.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Skies appear a deeper blue when viewed from great heights because of fewer large particles in the air than at sea level.

And if the loaf of bread doesn't try to jump in the glass of milk to hide away from the butter knife, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's up and down.

GLENDALIANS!

Many people go through life so engrossed with their own environment, that they fail to observe the big things right at their very doorstep. These people go around with closed mind and fist, neither giving nor receiving the good things an all-wise Creator has bestowed upon us.

Opportunity

Now presents itself to place the name of Glendale before the people of all the world, through the medium of a product to be "Made In Glendale." The demand and market, which is international, are already created, with little or no competition. All we have to do is produce the goods. The advertising and publicity by this product will increase Glendale population and property values.

A' Syndicate

Of representative Glendalians is organizing under a Bank Trust Agreement, to put their money into this business, not only for the good it will do Glendale, but more especially, for the safe, large returns on the investment. The members of the Syndicate anticipate conservatively 100% on their money.

Management

Of the Syndicate's business will be in the hands of a man of 20 years' experience in this product. Monthly statements from the Bank who handle the money under the Trust Agreement, will be mailed to each investor. If you are open for conviction and have money, fill out the attached coupon and mail today. Legitimate opportunities for your capital deserve your attention. If you are a "booster" and have any civic pride, your capital, no matter how small, should be invested "at home." Tear off that coupon now, which does not obligate you in any way.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 27.—Without displaying as much weakness and confusion as in some of the recent sessions of the stock market, industrials dipped to a lower price level today and showed little power of recuperation. A break in Chicago Northwestern, following publication of the unfavorable February earnings report, made it easier for bearish traders to upset the balance of the railroad stock list and gradually to extend their operations to the industrials.

When United States steel declined to 116 1/2 and Baldwin broke through to a new low at 110 1/2, stocks were pushed on the market faster than they could be absorbed except at good concessions in prices.

Good buying in some of the leading industrial shares was reported on the decline, pools being buyers of some of the pivotal stocks in preparation for a drive against the shorts.

The money market was one of the most important factors in today's speculative activities. Banks were reported calling loans in preparation for the monthly settlements and the rate for call money moved up from 4 to 4 1/2 and 5 per cent.

An advance of 2 1/2 per cent in the reserve ratio of the New York Federal Reserve bank showed conclusively why the directors took no action on raising the rediscount rate of the bank.

Outside of their pressure against a few of the industrial leaders, the bears were not so aggressive as in recent sessions of the market and trading consequently slowed up, with speculative interest concentrated in a small number of stocks.

A decline of 5c a bushel in May wheat and 3 to 4 cents in corn and rye forced some selling of stocks from western points. Cotton also lost its early gains and declined about 10 points below the previous close.

Copper metal prices sagged to 13 1/2 cents a pound today and most of the copper stocks were reactionary in consequence. United States Smelting, which is inactive in silver as well as in copper metal, was returned to a $3 dividend basis today for the first time since 1921, when the rate was $2 a share.

Oil stocks made a better showing than in any other session of the week today. Price cuts in the last two weeks have been in the fuel and lubricating oils and have not affected the gasoline refining districts. Meanwhile heavy consumption reported and oil companies are reporting much better earnings than at this time last year. Heavy selling of Marland sent the price down 1 point below the previous low for the year, but Shell-Union, Cosden, Phillips and Pan-American made a better market record.

A 3-point rise in the Pan-American oil set the whole market in an uproar in the petroleum movement in the last hour, and stocks rallied to the highest levels of the day. Pan-American owed its activity and strength to reports that the reorganization of the company in accordance with plans to be published next week involved the entrance of Standard Oil interests into the management, and the increase of the annual dividend to 8 per cent.

General Electric, American Can, Baldwin and other industrial leaders recovered a good part of their early losses and sold from 2 to 5 points higher than the level of the first hour. Baldwin advanced from 104 1/2 to 114 and United States Steel from 116 1/2 to 117 1/2. Atlantis Gulf and West Indies rose nearly 3 points. Savage Arms 2, Marland 1 1/2. Studebaker was a strong spot in the motor group. American Sugar stock also recovered most of its recent losses.

The market firmed up at the close with prices generally higher, but trade increased in volume. Money maintained at 5 per cent. Sales today, 1,142,700 shares; bonds, 111,117,000.

Our Weather Man

LOS ANGELES, March 27.—A light shower of rain in and near here early today and the prediction of "unsettled weather" by the United States weather bureau gave promise of more rain for Southern California. Unsettled weather today, with possibly light showers; fair and moderately warm tonight and Saturday, was the official forecast. In Los Angeles the precipitation was .13 of an inch while several inland points reported heavier rainfall, in some places the precipitation being .25 of an inch. Temperatures reported included: Boston, 54; Kansas City, 34; Chicago, 40; Denver, 30; Phoenix, 65; St. Louis, 44; San Diego, 56; San Francisco, 52, and Los Angeles, 55.
